By Associated Press.
Washington, Oct. 30.—Memorial services for the late Lord Mayor Mac-Swiney of Cork will be held throughout the United States. It was announced today by the Friends of Irish Freedom. Locals of the organization, it was said, would set the time for the services. Bishop Thomas Shahan, rector of the Catholic University, in a sermon at a solemn requiem mass sung for the repose of the soul of the late mayor at the University today declared that never in the history of mankind had there been an individual act of self-sacrifice equal to that of MacSwiney. Eamon de Valera, president of the provisional Irish republic, attended the mass.

By Associated Press.
Chicago, Oct. 30.—The ragged stranger for whose murder Carl Wanderer is still under indictment, was identified today as John Barrett, a former Canadian soldier. The identification was made by Herbert Pötter, also a Canadian, who said he had known Barrett well for some time prior to his murder. He led detectives to a hotel where Barrett had been staying. The register showed "John Barrett" written daily until the day of the murder. Members of the district attorney's staff said today they were undecided as to whether to prosecute Wanderer for the stranger's murder until the outcome of the first trial yesterday. The verdict was guilty.

NINETEEN MEN LOST WHEN STEAMER SANK

RAMMED BY ANOTHER VESSEL
THE STEAMER WENT TO THE BOTTOM IM-MEDIATELY.

By Associated Press.
Newport, R. I., Oct. 30.—Members of the coastguard crew stationed here reported early today that no trace had been found of any of the 19 members of the crew of 34 men who were on the concrete steamer Cape Fear when that vessel was sunk in Narragansett Bay last night in a collision with the Savannah line steamer City of Atlanta. Coast guardsmen searched all night, but found only quantities of wreckage along the shore, but no word of the missing men. Both vessels carried their crews. The Cape Fear, struck amidships, sank in three minutes bow first in 129 fathoms, the greatest depth in the bay. The City of Atlanta was damaged badly but anchored in the bay. The Cape Fear went down so quickly that a majority of the crew had to jump into the water.

world are received regularly. Ve-sides American publications, the library subscribes for 11 French, 11
German, 1 Italian, 1 Spanish, and 1 Canadian periodical, while an order has been placed for Austrian publications.

ARE PESSIMISTIC.

By Associated Press.
Paris, Oct. 30.—France's efforts to raise the birthrate and lower the death rate, by means of the new Ministry of Hygiene, are too recent to be judged by comprehensive statistics. The importance of the problem, however, is given pessimistic prominence anew by publication of the Labor Ministry's statistics for 1919. There were three deaths to two births last year. In only one department, Finistere, did births exceed deaths. In a number deaths were double and even nearly treble the number of births.

CORN AS FUEL.

Complaining that there is little demand for their corn crop and that the price offered is less than they will have to pay for coal, the farmers of northern Nebraska propose to burn corn as fuel this winter, declaring that corn makes a hotter fire and lasts longer than coal.

It is many years since the farmers of the corn belt burned corn for fuel, and it was then for the same reason that is now urged—the cheapness of corn and the high cost of coal, as well as the difficulty of securing transportation for the coal when needed.

Corn then sold as low as 15c a bushel, and some elevators were so overstocked that they offered 10c, the farmers in many instances hauling the corn back to the farm rather than accept such a price. Coal in that section cost around $6 or $7 a ton, when it could be obtained.

Corn at three-quarters of a cent a pound is about 42c a bushel. Coal is now quoted at $15 a ton in Nebraska, and not the best coal at that, so when the cost of hauling coal from the railway yards to the farm is added, the corn is really the cheaper fuel.

One reason for corn being so cheap in the corn belt is the lack of sufficient transportation facilities. There is really no glut in the market, for even a bounteous crop can be used to good advantage, and there are many thousands of hungry people in Europe who would be glad to pay much more than 42c a bushel for the corn that they need for food, and which is too precious to use for forage over there.

There is a larger crop of corn in Texas than has ever before been known, but the price has not touched the low mark reported in Nebraska. Indeed, if the Texas people were to be quoted corn at $15 a ton, even with the freight added, they would think they were getting a gift.

There is a great deal of corn used in the border country, and very little of it for feed for animals. Yet there is not enough corn grown here to supply the normal wants, and a great deal of it has to be imported from more favored sections. And if the farmers here had to compete with corn at comparatively low price of 42c a bushel, they would find that it did not pay to grow it.

Still, it must be remembered that the farmers of the Middle West corn belt have seen many years in which the price of corn to the farmer was less than 40c and they did not seem to think that they were in danger of bankruptcy. And only a few years ago 50c a bushel was considered a good price, from Indiana west to the Colorado line.

The trouble is that the high prices which were the result of the world war have raised the standard which the farmers demand for their products, and they are not willing to go back to a reasonable price for anything.

Corn that sold at $2 and better when there was a good crop has spoiled the average farmer of the corn belt for cheaper prices. And a man who has some 40,000 or 50,000 bushels of corn—which is a small amount for the average farmer in that section—is apt to feel that the world is moving out from under his feet when he gets around one-fifth of what he got last year.

Cheaper wheat and cheaper corn mean cheaper bread for the hungry millions of our own country, as well as a relief from famine conditions for the starving poor of Europe. It means some millions less for the farmers of our country, it is true, but it does not mean the absolute ruin which so many have pictured.

It seems doubtful that coal will be any cheaper until the miners, as well as other skilled laborers, have returned to normal wages, but other things are dropping, and there is no reason why the abnormal prices for our breadstuffs should continue.

Meanwhile, it seems a shameful waste to burn hundreds of thousands of bushels of perfectly good corn merely because it is cheap.

ABUSING OUR FLAG.

There are almost daily abuses of the American flag, ranging from the attempted desecration by anarchists to the flaunting use of the flag to advertise some commercial operation or to justify and sanctify something which without the flag would have little standing.

But one of the worst uses to which the flag has been put in some time was the placing of it at half mast over the Newark, New Jersey, city hall, which was draped in mourning following the death of the late Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork.

There is not the slightest objection in the world to any person mourning over the death of MacSwiney. But here in the United States that mourning must be individual or confined to the members of the society to which the "martyr" belonged; to attempt to force the mourning upon an entire city, most of whose residents are not in sympathy with the cause represented by the dead man is to exceed the official authority conferred upon the mayor of Newark by his constituents.

Mayor Gillen of Newark may be—and probably is—a loyal Irish rebel. But it is a question if he is lawfully holding the office of mayor of an American city while a member of an association organized for the sole purpose of rebelling against the lawful authority of Great Britain, and even if his tenure of office is not impeached, it is entirely without his rights to attempt to force the people of Newark to make an outward and visible display of mourning for the death of a foreigner with whom they are not in any wise in sympathy.

It must be remembered that Old Glory is the flag of the United States, that our country is friendly toward Great Britain, and that the placing of our flag at half mast because of the death of a man whose life was spent in rebellion against a friendly nation is unjustifiable and improper.

There was a time when some of the radicals in this country carried our flag at the head of their processions in token that they were loyal Americans, no matter what their politics. Societies of men of foreign birth also carried our flag along with that of the country from which they came, partly out of respect for this country and partly because police regulations in the various cities required it.

But there is no justification for the use of the American flag in connection with the Irish rebellion, any more than there would be in connection with the Talmadge rebellion or the soviet uprising. Our country is not in sympathy with any foreign rebellion, and especially one against the lawful authority of a friendly power.

It is time that a law were enacted covering the permissible uses of our flag. As it is, if the mayor of any city so desires, he can order the flag displayed in rejoicing over some event in another country, or at half mast over the death of some person in whom he takes a personal interest.

There are laws governing the use of the flag in the official departments of the United States government. Some of the states have laws governing its use in state departments. And even some of the cities have police regulations governing the use of the flag within their jurisdiction.

There is no more reason why a city should be plunged into mourning because of the death of an Irish rebel than there is for the same act of sorrow over the execution of a Korean rebel by the Japanese.

Those who mourn the death of MacSwiney are entitled to the respect of others, if their mourning be sincere and heartfelt. But if, as is strongly suspected, the outward mourning is merely a political trap to catch votes, the citizens of Newark should strongly protest against this misuse of their flag and their city hall.

SAFETY FIRST.

By Associated Press.

Galveston, Texas, Oct. 29.—Declaring that the "safety first" movement among American railroads is little appreciated and generally misunderstood, Isaiah Hale, safety superintendent of the Santa Fe railway system, addressing the recent loss and damage conference here, asserted that Americans reserve to themselves what they regard as their God-given right to use railway right-of-way and other property as they see fit.

"I dare say," he added, "that many reckless Americans regret that they have only one life to give in order that they may establish their independence."

SPIRIT OF ENTHUSIASM PERVADES TWO NATIONS

Greatest Meeting in the History of Laredo at Elks Hall Last Night.

American and Mexican Stands Shoulder to Shoulder and the Flag of Each Waves Proudly; Talks Teemed With Enthusiasm and Friendship.

In the yesteryears there have been meetings held in Laredo where the flags of two nations waved side by side and shared equally in the decorations of the place of assembly, but never before in the history of Laredo has there been such a harmonious blending of the red, white and blue and the green, white and red than was presented in the decoration motif at Elks Hall on last night, when a luncheon and meeting of the Laredo Chamber of Commerce membership was held for the purpose of electing a board of directors to serve for the ensuing year. In each corner of the room Old Glory formed the decorative effect, while on the walls of the hall were the flags of Mexico and the hall was bordered with green, white and red bunting. This signified that the old-time friendship and harmony that prevailed among Americans and Mexicans in years gone by has again been restored and the two nations stand shoulder to shoulder and hand in hand for the good that the one may do the other—for the creating of stronger ties of friendship, greater commercial relations and everything that portends for the good of the two peoples. The decoration work was done by P. L. Mackay and presented a very attractive appearance. In the hall were four long tables laden with good things to eat, and places were provided for 250 persons, and all these were occupied, and all did justice to the menu, which consisted of shrimp salad, olives, celery, pickles, nuts, roast chicken cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, Waldorf salad, brick cream and cake, coffee and cheese. The music was furnished by the 17th Infantry Band and the toastmasters for the occasion were Robert L. Bobbitt, who was in charge of the English-speaking section, and Matias de Llano, who was in charge of the Spanish-speaking section.

When the Nuevo Laredo military, Co. and many other big enterprises federal, state, city and other officials that it takes a live, wide-awake reached the hall they were greeted Chamber of Commerce to put through. And it was for this purpose that the organization put it up to the members to select thirteen members to serve as directors for the ensuing year, and those directors were selected last night, and are Robert Lee Bobbitt, P. L. Mackay, Sam W. Brown, W. L. Guyler, Albert Martin, W. S. Cantrell, Sam Mackin, F. A. Matthes, Royce K. Minus, August C. Richter, I. Rodriguez, G. B. Salinas and Matias de Llano. The new members of the board of directors are W. S. Cantrell, Albert Martin and Matias de Llano. This gives the Chamber of Commerce a strong and efficient board, for every member is a live, progressive, doing business man.

During the speaking program last night short talks were made by the following parties: Robert Lee Bobbitt and Matias de Llano as toastmasters; W. L. Guyler, president of the Laredo Chamber of Commerce; Mayor Leopoldo Villegas of Laredo, Mayor Felipe Zepeda of Nuevo Laredo, Major Rogers of the Laredo District, Colonel Alberto A. Cabaños of the Nuevo Laredo District, Donaciano Echavarría, president of the Nuevo Laredo Chamber of Commerce; J. R. Moore, L. R. Ortiz, August C. Richter, Collector of Customs Sanchez Gavito of Nuevo Laredo, O. W. Killum, Roy Campbell, Prof. Manuel Gonzalez of Nuevo Laredo, L. J. Christen, A. C. Hamilton, Dr. E. H. Sauvignat, Prof. Diaz of Nuevo Laredo, Prof. F. W. Mally, U. S. Vice Consul E. B. Adams, Mexican Consul General Arturo de Saracho, M. Little and others.

A flashlight photograph of the gathering was taken just prior to the beginning of the feast by the Moonlight Studio, and this picture shows the decorated hall and all of the occupants of places at the tables.

ALL DOUBTERS SHOULD SEE "THE LOVE EXPERT" SUNDAY

Constance Talmadge in Newest First National Play Will Be at Rialto Sunday and Monday.

Helpful hints to girls or boys anxious to ascertain whether one (certain member of the opposite sex) is responsive to their respective emotions are given in "The Love Expert," starring Constance Talmadge and which will be shown at the Rialto Theatre, commencing Sunday.

This production is the workmanship of John Emerson and Anita Loos whose former stories and adaptations for Constance Talmadge since her affiliation with First National Exhibitors' Circuit have been greeted by the theatregoing public at large as classic gems of comedy production.

As Babs, a romantic boarding-school girl, Connie is probably in her most delightful characterization. Eschewing the cut-and-dried educational subjects she devotes herself to self-instruction in the science of Practical Love-Making, with the result that the Board of Regents stimulates another sale for the railroad companies—thus giving Babs a chance to try out her many formulas.

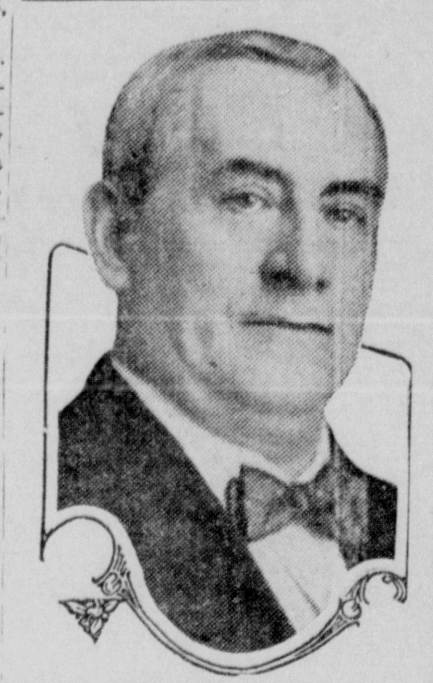

TWO BIG THINGS ARE AHEAD FOR THE FUTURE IN LAREDO

Announcement Made Contract Let for Cotton Seed Mill and That Hotel Proposition Being Taken Up.

At the big meeting of members of the Chamber of Commerce and others at Elks Hall last night two important announcements were made, the carrying out of which means much to Laredo.

One gentleman announced that the contract was let yesterday by the Laredo Soap Co. for the erection of a cotton seed oil mill on the Heights in this city and that work of construction would start soon. The hotel proposition was discussed and the information was given out that the matter was being given serious consideration at this time and Laredo would soon get some interesting information on the subject.

WM. WEIGEL, of Seattle who says he had no idea anything on earth could do for him what Tanlac has done. Declares he has gained 30 pounds and that his health has been completely restored.

"I had no idea that anything on earth could do for me what Tanlac has done, and I just feel like telling everybody I see about this wonderful medicine," said Wm. Weigel, 2602 Third Ave., Seattle, Wash., with the word. 2019 Iturbide St.

—When I began taking Tanlac," continued Mr. Weigel, "my condition was so rundown that I could not work. I was never hungry, and my stomach was so disordered that the little I forced myself to eat disagreed with me. My kidneys bothered me, and the pains across my back were so severe that when I tried to bend over and straighten up again it would nearly kill me. I had splitting headaches and such dizzy spells at times I would almost topple over. Then to make matters worse, I began to suffer with rheumatism in my legs. I was nervous, weak and listless, was rapidly losing weight and strength and seemed to be going down hill every day.

"I began to improve after the first few doses of Tanlac. I seemed to feel better each day as I continued the treatment. In a few weeks I was like a brand-new man. Now, I have a big appetite, eat anything I want, enjoy every mouthful and I don't suffer in the least afterwards. I sleep like a child every night and feel just fine on arising in the morning. I haven't a pain about me, my strength has been wonderfully increased and I have actually gained thirty pounds.

"If anybody doubts this statement, just tell them to see me and I will give them the names of some of my friends who will verify every word of it."

"Tanlac is sold in Laredo by City Drug Store."

ELECTIONS IN ALL THE STATES

Washington, D. C., Oct. 28.—The quadrennial general election to be held next Tuesday will, of course, embrace all of the States so far as the voting for President and Vice President is concerned. In addition there will be election of State officers, judges of the supreme court, railroad commissioners, etc. in all of the States with the exception of Maine, which State elected its State officers and representatives in Congress last month.

In thirty-five of the States governors and full State tickets are to be chosen. In others the election will be confined to justices of the supreme court and minor officials. The States in which governors are chosen are as follows:

Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Vermont, Washington, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

While the prohibition and women suffrage issues, which have been voted on in a considerable number of States for years past, are conspicuous this year by their absence, there are numerous other proposed constitutional amendments and questions of various kinds to be submitted to the voters in the different States. In one or two of the States the voters are to be given an opportunity to express themselves for or against an entire revision of their State constitution. In others of the States the questions to be submitted to the voters will deal largely with such matters as the extension of educational facilities, changes in the methods of taxation, irrigation and drainage projects, highway improvement, and various projects for internal development. The most of these will be of local interest, but a notable exception will be the vote in California on the proposed anti-Japanese land law, the result of which will be of more than national interest.

The Sixty-seventh Congress, comprising 435 representatives, will be elected. The possibility of a change in the dominant party in the House lends interest to the congressional elections. The present Republican majority in the House is forty-six. The active fight of the Socialists and other minor parties to defeat some of the present representatives who are candidates for re-election and to elect some of their own representatives is attracting attention.

United States senators are to be voted for in thirty-two States. The States in which senatorial elections are to be held are as follows:

Alabama (two), Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Missouri, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington, and Wisconsin.

A Fine Concert.

The Tuesday Music and Literary Club entertained with a most select musicale from 4 to 6 at Elks Hall Tuesday afternoon, featuring Prof. John M. Steinfeldt of San Antonio as the main soloist and varying his program with numbers from local talent.

Mrs. Thredgill, president of the Club, introduced the artist Prof. Steinfeldt, and among other things said that a thorough knowledge of the technique of music is not necessary to an enjoyment of its beauties. Technical knowledge is not required to feel the grip, the pull, the uplift of immortal music. She quoted an eminent speaker as saying, "Language is not subtle enough, tender enough, to express all that we feel, and when language fails, the highest and deepest longings of the soul are translated into music." She explained that the Music and Literary Club, in keeping with the nation-wide movement toward things American, and with a desire to know more of our own American national life and thought not only from the material side but along intellectual and cultural lines as well, has selected for its course of study this year "American Art and American Music." She said that all present, both guests and members of the club, were overjoyed and delighted when they learned that they were going to be able to study the work of a contemporary composer at first hand instead of studying about composers from criticisms, biographies, etc. She said: "We are fortunate indeed to be able to learn from a master himself; to hear a real American musician interpret his own compositions, to listen to him put the soul into his works. Prof. John M. Steinfeldt, the dean of Texas pianists, has studied with American and European masters; he himself is pianist, teacher and composer; his life has been devoted among us here in Texas to elevating the ideals of, to helping formulate the new American music. It has been said of him that he is not only the greatest Texas composer, but that he is unsurpassed in the whole South."

After these appropriate remarks the following program was given: Group I—Compositions by Prof. Steinfeldt.
a.—Legend.
b.—Romance.
c.—Serenade.
d.—Valse d'Amour.
2.—Fulfillment, by R. Huntington Woodman.—Miss Slaughter.
3.—Cradle Song.—Shubert.
Mr. Macias, Encore, Traumer.
4.—Daddy.—(Behrend).
P. V. Blanchard, baritone, Encore, "Just a Wearyin' for You."
5.—Vale.—Russell.
Miss Slaughter, Encore, Serenade—Gilbert.

Group 2.—Prof. Steinfeldt.
a.—Homage to McDowell.
Dedicated to Percy Granger.
b.—Capriccio.
c.—Sur le Lak.
d.—La Triste.
e.—Adieu la Fontaine.
f.—Love Song.

It is needless to say that those who were absent from this entertainment missed one of the treats of the season. Prof. Steinfeldt is an able pianist, gifted in composition and execution, with a style which takes with new as well as old acquaintances. His remarks preceding each number were filled with a quaint humor and showed an understanding of just what explanation he thought necessary to an audience composed of both literary and musical talent. Each rendition called forth applause of appreciation and many were the wishes that the performance could be repeated soon. In closing Prof. Steinfeldt expressed a desire to develop a composition from the musical name of Laredo, which he will dedicate to the Tuesday Music and Literary Club. Our own Mrs. Slaughter and Señor Macias surpassed all previous performances by the feeling manner in which they executed their parts of the program.

Mr. P. V. Blanchard, a newcomer to Laredo, delighted the audience with the wonderful poem song of "Daddy," and graciously responded to Mesdames Goodman, Mally and Brennan served punch before and after the artistic program and received many compliments on their "home brew."

As an institution, the Tuesday Club is to be congratulated on having introduced to Laredo circles of culture such a gifted artist as Prof. Steinfeldt, and it is to be hoped that this is only a taste of the good things this Club has in store for the public.

New Girl Type in "39 East."

There have been chorus girls and chorus girls depicted on the screen, and invariably they have been of the same type—beautiful, seductive creatures, gowned in the latest Parisian fashion leading a prize dog on the leash with a host of millionaires ever at their feet clamoring to give them all their hearts desire. Constance Binney creates a new type of chorus girl in her portrayal of Pendelope Penn in "39 East," the Rachel Crothers play shown in picture form at the Royal Theater today and tomorrow. Miss Binney, delightfully herself, sweet and demure, portrays the role of a daughter of a poor minister, who has been brought up in a careful though old-fashioned manner, and goes to the city to make her fortune. Contrary to the story of most chorus girls, it was only after she failed to obtain other employment that she was forced to utilize her church choir training in the ranks of the chorus. However, association with the sophisticated "gold diggers" of the chorus did not taint Pendelope, and even when she became a premiere danseuse she remained a sweet and wholesome girl.

HEALTH DICTATOR.

By Associated Press.
Warsaw, Oct. 28.—A health dictator has been appointed by the Polish government to fight the typhus plague. He is Dr. Emil Godelewski, known throughout eastern Europe as an expert in hygiene. His writings on the subjects are a text book in nurses' schools and hospitals. Under the Polish Ministry of Health he has set up an office in Warsaw where he has been given the widest powers. The American Red Cross has placed two of its best physicians at his disposal and one of the first results of their co-operation was the decision to send out a series of dispensary trains staffed by Polish and American personnel.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE.

By Associated Press.
Corpus Christi, Texas, Oct. 28.—Planting seed of one variety of cotton close to the seed of another variety of cotton soon will result in cross pollination and production of a hybrid strain that will lose its vigor in the course of a few years, according to a recent address of O. F. Cook, cotton expert for the bureau of plant industry of the United States department of agriculture. "You might as well put Jersey bulls in your Hereford field and expect a pure strain of cattle to result," he said.

Certain varieties of long staple cotton are better suited for each locality than any others, and it is the duty of farm advisers to discover this type and advocate its planting in each district. Dr. Cook declared following such a policy, planting all one variety of cotton in one vicinity and ginning but one variety at each gin would result in maintaining purity of the parent stock and would greatly increase the revenue of farming communities following this policy, he told members of the Rural Land Owners' Association and others who attended a recent conference here.

The meeting aroused great interest in the district and it is believed the program recommended will result in establishing a type of cotton in the twenty counties represented that will bring a heavy annual premium and eventually have representatives bidding for it directly, eliminating many of the market processes now required.

THEIR SPLENDID SPIRIT.

By Associated Press.
Galveston, Texas, Oct. 28.—France is fighting to come back, England is in the midst of an economic crisis, Italy seems to have been bitten by the bolshevik germ and Ireland is undergoing a frightful travail. Such is the summing up of conditions abroad, as he saw them, by the Very Rev. James M. Kirwin, vicar general of the diocese of Galveston, who acted as chaplain to the Knights of Columbus party in its recent pilgrimage to France and the Holy See.

Those who scoff at the people of war-torn France, Father Kirwin declared, either are not looking at the people as a whole or are prejudiced. The thing which impressed the visiting knights most, he said, was the splendid spirit of the peasant, who is back at work now after military service putting in even harder licks in the battle to reconstruct France than he ever did against the German.

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy.

FOUR TIMES AS MUCH IN REPUBLICAN FUND

DEMOCRATS SPENT LESS THAN NINE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS IN THE CAMPAIGN.

By Associated Press.
New York, Oct. 28.—Total receipts by the Democratic national committee to October 25th for the conduct of the present campaign amounted to $878,831.34, according to the announcement made today by Wilbur Marsh, the party's national treasurer. The sum collected, Mr. Marsh said, consisted almost entirely of contributions to the campaign fund, with the exception of $150,000 which was borrowed.

The Republican Fund.
Chicago, Oct. 28.—The Republican national committee's campaign to elect Harding will cost $3,442,892.32, Fred Upham, national treasurer of the party, notified the senate committee appointed to investigate campaign expenditures in his report filed here today. Of this sum $3,042,892.32 had been spent up to the close of business October 24. Mr. Upham estimated the expenditures of the closing week of the campaign at $400,000 additional.

GERMAN HARD TIMES.

By Associated Press.
Berlin, Oct. 28.—Hard times in Germany, marked by high prices and depreciated money values, unemployment and industrial reorganization, have forced readjustments in universities and public and private schools which, the newspapers say, will mean that many professors, lecturers and private instructors either will be thrown out of work or compelled by low salaries to seek employment in other countries. A number already have gone to Mexico and South America and it is reported scores have made arrangements to leave.

In some papers it is suggested that "perhaps the hard times are not alone responsible for the attitude the professors have assumed for it is known they are keenly sensible of the outrageous times and their loss of dignity" under the republic. The difficulties of the situation have increased by the advent of hundreds of teachers formerly employed in the province of Posen. Regret is expressed that "in Posen 15,000 children of German parentage will be without German instruction" and that these probably in a short time will become Polish.

Suggestions have been made in some quarters that the state should consider means by which the services of professors who propose to leave could be retained for German schools.

EXPORTS INCREASING.

By Associated Press.
Juarez, Mexico, Oct. 28.—Export business from Juarez to the United States is increasing at a rapid rate, according to a statement by E. A. Dow, American consul here.

From July to September exports were valued at $194,075, while for the first 15 days of October they had risen to $219,404, the statement showed.

The principal item was minerals.

For the first six months of 1920, according to the statement, Mexican exports to the United States through this port were valued at $6,903,010. Of this amount $1,141,415 was credited to the Juarez consular jurisdiction.

Imports into Juarez from the United States for the first six months of this year totaled $2,536,032 in valuation, Consul Dow announced.

By Associated Press.
Omaha, Neb., Oct. 28.—Hundreds of thousands of bushels of corn may be burned as fuel by farmers in northern Nebraska this winter. High-priced coal and a bounteous but low-priced crop of corn is the reason. New corn now unshelled brings three-fourths of a cent a pound, or $15 a ton. The cheapest sort of coal is $15 a ton and has to be hauled. The farmers claim that unshelled corn makes a hotter fire and will last longer than coal.

IMPOSING MASS FOR DEAD IRISH MAYOR

COFFIN PLATE SAID HE WAS MURDERED BY FOREIGNERS IN THE BRITTON PRISON.

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 28.—Pontifical requiem mass was celebrated this morning in St. George's cathedral over the body of the late lord mayor of Cork, Terence MacSwiney. Thousands of persons thronged every available space in the cathedral. The plate on the coffin bore the inscription in Gaelic: "Murdered by foreigners in Britton prison, London, October 25, the fourth year of the republic, aged 40 years. God have mercy on his soul."

"We have terms from the government which then executive is submitting to the ballot of the men for their judgment. The executive is recommending their adoption as a temporary measure until a national wage board is established."

HOBBY DECLINES TO URGE CLOSING GINS

SAID COTTON WOULD DETERIORATE IF NOT GINNED AND THAT WOULD BE UNWISE.

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 28.—Governor Hobby today declined to join Governor Parker of Louisiana in requesting ginners to close down for 30 days or more. He declared that if the cotton was made it would not be wise to throw it away or allow it to deteriorate by not ginning it. He said he believed putting it in better shape for preservation by baling would enable the farmers to hold the cotton for higher prices without impairment of grade.

LAW IS BINDING.

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 28.—The poll tax law passed at the last special session of the legislature is binding on all election administrative officers and those who desire to vote November 2, according to an opinion by the attorney general today. The opinion excepts Harris county, where the district judge held the law unconstitutional, from its application.

UNFAIR PARTISANSHIP.

By Associated Press.
Dayton, Ohio, Oct. 28.—Another statement charging the Saturday Evening Post and its editor, George Horace Lorimer, with unfair partisanship was issued today by Governor Cox.

"The insidious purpose of the Saturday Evening Post, cloaked under its non-partisan methods of the 'past decade' or more, finally has been brought to light," Governor Cox declared, stating that it had made misstatements only four days before the election when it was impossible to correct them.

STIMULATE MOVEMENT.

By Associated Press.
Galveston, Texas, Oct. 28.—Stimulation of the laggard movement of southern cotton to European ports countries is expected by cotton men here to follow Admiral Benson's cut in ocean rates between Galveston and the ports of Havre and Liverpool. The rates were reduced 43 and 25 cents, respectively, per hundred pounds on high density cotton.

Admiral Benson's action came on the heels of a statement from Washington that, unless the French line abandoned alleged practices of underbidding American and other foreign lines the shipping board would be forced into a "rate war."

The reductions here are effective for the months of November, December and January, the present ocean rates holding good for the remainder of October.

Impetus recently given the movement to permit German and French firms to purchase Texas low-grade cotton on long term credits, coupled with the drastic cut in ocean rates, cotton men believe, can not but stimulate the purchase by European mills of the southern staple. The low figure at which the product now can be bought also is expected to result in the placing of heavy European orders. At present there are 171,457 bales in storage here as compared with 115,663 at the same time last year.

AN UNEASY HEAD.

The old adage about the head that wears the crown was certainly exemplified in the death of Alexander of Greece. But a little over three years a king, he was in the first prime of manhood, and had not been married a year.

Brought to the throne by the demand of the powers who had guaranteed the constitutional liberties of the Greek people, he promised upon his accession to carry out the policies of his father, who had been forced to abdicate. He was reported at odds with Premier Venizelos, the "strong man" of Greece, and his morganatic marriage with a commoner, although the lady was a patriotic Greek, widened the gap.

When his wife, displeased at the opposition to her marriage with the young king, went to France, Alexander followed her and it was even rumored that he would renounce the throne and refuse to return.

But he later returned and entered Adrianople at the head of his victorious troops only a few months ago, since when he had been the idol of the Greek people, with the exception of those who still hope for the restoration of his father, forced to abdicate because of his marriage to a German princess, sister of the former German Kaiser, and his pronounced pro-German leanings.

It was recently rumored that the death of the young king had been deliberately planned and that the monk which bit him had been artificially infected with rabies in the hope of communicating the dread disease to the king, who the plot had made certain would be attacked by the infected animal in the park.

Be that as it may, the young king is now dead, and the troubles of the kingdom have again begun. For the youthful prince "life's fitful fever" is over, and for the young wife there is little hope of any recognition at the hands of those who dominate Greece.

The younger brother of Alexander, Prince Paul, is now mentioned as his probable successor. But an imperative condition to his nomination is the formal abdication of the former king, his father, and the renunciation of all rights of succession on the part of his brother, Prince George.

At first sight, this seems almost impossible of attainment, as Constantine has repeatedly declared that his abdication was forced from him and that he will return some day to rule over his people.

One group of the Greeks favors a republic as the best means of settling the difficulty, but Venizelos thinks the Greek people are not yet ripe for that form of government.

Other royal scions have been mentioned as likely to be offered the throne in the event that the accession of Prince Paul seems impossible through the refusal of his father to formally recognize the succession, and the young prince of Belgium has been mentioned as the one most likely to receive the approval of the Entente powers.

The Greeks have become used to a rule of native born princes, even though of alien blood. The Danish prince who founded the present dynasty was popular with the Greeks, and his children and grandchildren have been recognized as Greek by birth, as well as legitimate rulers by descent.

Perhaps the most unfortunate incident in the career of the former king was his marriage to Sophia, the German princess, and his complete submission to her somewhat fiery domination. She was the cause of his abdication, and were she out of the way the people again might return to their allegiance to Constantine.

But Venizelos is opposed to the return of the former monarch, as he distrusts his friendship for the German Junker party, and he knows that the restoration of Constantine would mean the destruction of all the old premier has accomplished.

CONCERNING DRIVES.

The people are getting somewhat tired of drives, and in their dislike of the continual appeals for funds they are apt to fail to "come across" for some of the really worthy objects.

But there are two appeals for funds that should meet with a favorable response from all, and within a short time the people will have an opportunity to show how they feel toward two great philanthropic movements that have to do with the relief of suffering humanity.

The annual Membership Drive for the Red Cross will begin November 11, Armistice Day, and will continue for two weeks. And before that date the Tag Day for the Texas Memorial Tubercular Hospital located at Kerrville will ask for a small donation to make this hospital what it should be—a memorial for the soldiers who fell in battle or who "gave their lives" in the line of duty while upholding the American flag during the world war.

It is not necessary to call the attention of any American to the work of the Red Cross. And yet Americans know less of the work of the great American society than do the people of Europe, for the greatest work that any relief organization has ever carried on has been that done by American Red Cross workers in Belgium, France, Serbia, Albania, Armenia and Poland.

and the fame of America all over the civilized world, and your dollar has helped to do the work. Were it not for the great membership list that has helped by the individual mites of the members to carry on the work there would be no Red Cross. And now that the organization is no longer carrying on campaigns for funds, it is necessary to keep up the membership, as well as to get all the new members possible.

The American Legion is carrying on the Tag Day drive for the Kerrville Tubercular Hospital. The hospital is to care for all the former service men who have contracted the dread white plague, and to give them a home where they may be cured. The amount needed is $350,000, and this is to be raised by "tagging" everybody.

Anyone can afford ten cents for this object, which is so near to the hearts of the Texas people, and those who wish may give more. Saturday, November 6, has been designated by Governor Hobby as the day for this campaign, and the members of each morce have a voice in determining the state will work to get the respective quotas before the day is ended. The quota of Laredo is $200, which means that if 2,000 people each contribute a dime the amount will be raised.

There are today hundreds of former soldiers in Texas suffering from tuberculosis, contracted while in the service. Some of these were easily infected because they had been victims of the German poison gas, and all of them need care and attention which many of them cannot get except in such a hospital as is being built at Kerrville.

These men are deserving of all that we can do for them. They cheerfully gave their service to their country, and they are suffering because of disease contracted during that service. They look confidently to us for aid, just as we looked confidently to them for our defense.

This is one of the objects of the great organization formed by the service men. They cannot do everything themselves, but they can get out amongst the people and urge them to pay a part of the debt they owe to these soldiers of ours.

It is little that is asked of the people. It is true that every organization that felt it had a claim on the people has asked for funds for various purposes, but the Red Cross and the soldiers' relief are two objects that should not need any argument added to their appeal.

Constance Talmadge Here Sunday. Laredo people who saw Constance Talmadge in "In Search of a Sinner" and other plays in which this great First National star has appeared are delighted to know that the saucy Constance will be at the Rialto on Sunday and Monday in the First National production, "The Love Expert," pronounced one of her greatest comedy-dramas. Manager Daniels appears to be making the big First National plays, the kind Laredo always welcomes, a Sunday feature, as last Sunday he had Charles Ray in one of the First National attractions and he has Constance Talmadge for the coming Sunday-Monday programs.

CLING TO PAGEANTRY. By Associated Press.

The Hague, Oct. 27.—The Dutch people cling to the pageantry that surrounds the movements of their Queen on state occasions though sturdy democrats in their business life. The opening of the Dutch parliament exemplified this.

This parliament opening is a quaint old ceremony. The Queen rides in a gilded carriage through the streets of the Hague to the old Knights Hall in Parliament Square and, with her crown on her head and her gold-braided Prince consort at her side, sits on her throne for once each year.

At this ceremony the Dutch cabinet ministers are compelled by tradition to wear giddy uniforms resembling an old time minstrel man in an admiral's hat. For some reason this tradition decreed that the ministers on this solemn occasion must wear long white duck trousers which contrast strangely with their tremendous black, gold and orange hats shaped like an inverted gravy dish.

After this one day of pomp the ministers and members of parliament put on their working clothes and get down to business while the Queen, who prides herself on being a typical Dutch woman with domestic tastes, lays her crown aside for another year.

This year's ceremony had one note of discord with its ancient pomp. Through the crowds who watched the parade marched a number of discontented minor government employees of the post and telegraph department carrying placards asking when this parliament was going to raise their pay.

MEETING TOMORROW NIGHT SHOULD BE WELL ATTENDED

New Directors For the Chamber of Commerce Will Be Selected to Serve for the Ensuing Year.

Recently an enthusiastic meeting of the progressive business men of Laredo was held at Elks Hall to put over the campaign for members for the Chamber of Commerce, and at that meeting the spirit of enthusiasm that pervaded the gathering showed Laredo's commercial interests were united for a bigger and greater Laredo in every respect.

The Chamber of Commerce now has the largest and best membership in its history, including nearly every business establishment in Laredo in the representation by individual members. The next order of business is the selection of a board of directors of the Texas people, and those who wish may give more. Saturday, November 6, has been designated by Governor Hobby as the day for this campaign, and the members of each morce have a voice in determining the state will work to get the respective quotas before the day is ended. The quota of Laredo is $200, which means that if 2,000 people each contribute a dime the amount will be raised.

A splendid program and menu heard in American and Mexican colors has been printed. The mayor of Nuevo Laredo, commanding officer of New Laredo post, customs collector of Nuevo Laredo, Mexican consul and other prominent Mexican officials will address the meeting in Spanish. Officers of Fort McIntosh, the mayor of Laredo and other prominent officials will also address the meeting. The complete program will be announced tomorrow.

One special purpose of the meeting in addition to the election of officers, is that all the new members should get acquainted with each other, and with all the members of last year, because it is proposed that every member new and old, shall have an important duty to perform for Laredo during the year.

Thrilling Tale of Pioneers. "Lahoma," the Edgar Lewis-Pathe production that opened yesterday at the Strand Theatre makes us realize how very recent is some of the history of the United States. It was only thirty years ago that Oklahoma territory was opened to homesteaders, and only thirteen years ago that it became a State. That those days of Oklahoma in the making were thrilling, dangerous, adventurous and romantic is shown in "Lahoma," which has been produced with a fidelity to types, habits, customs and topography that is proof of Edgar Lewis's familiarity with that country.

IS MOST SERIOUS PROBLEM FOR THE FUTURE OF LAREDO

Unless Rent Houses Are Provided for New Arrivals Laredo Will Lose Many Good People.

The rent house and rooming problem is becoming a serious proposition in Laredo at this time, and there is a greater demand for rent cottages or rooms furnished for light housekeeping than ever before in the history of the city, and as a result of the dearth in the supply Laredo is losing many persons who leave here because they can not get comfortably located.

Every day The Times office and other places are visited by new arrivals in the city who have come here to locate inquiring about rent houses or rooms for light housekeeping, and after these people parade about town for a few days and fail to locate what they want they being disgusted with conditions and depart. Laredo is growing rapidly in population, new people are coming here to locate and engage in business and they must find quarters to live in or they will move on to another place where they can get located. There are hundreds of vacant lots in Laredo owned by persons who could afford to build cottages thereon, and instead of letting the land lie idle a good revenue would be forthcoming if the place had a cottage or two on it, for rentals in Laredo are high and new arrivals would pay the price if they can get a comfortable home to live in here. One hundred new rent cottages in Laredo at this time would find ready applicants. Build rent cottages. Others who can not afford to build but have spare rooms in their homes could lend a helping hand to conditions by equipping those spare rooms for light housekeeping and rent the rooms to desirable tenants.

COTTON CROP IS CUT SHORT; FAR BELOW EXPECTATIONS

Total Number of Bales in Webb County Not Much Over 1,300 Bales; 300 Bales From Zapata County.

Up to this morning the gin of the Laredo Cotton Gin Co. on the Heights here had turned out a total of 1,578 bales of cotton, and Mr. Guinn, the manager, stated that by Saturday all the ordinary cotton would be ginned and he would be ready early next week to start ginning the less than a hundred bales of long staple cotton, for which special machinery was ordered and is now being installed at the local gin.

The total cotton crop of Webb county turned out at the local gin aggregates about 1,300 bales, while the remainder of the cotton ginned was transported here from Zapata county. The total of both counties ginned here will amount to something over 1,600 bales. As will be noted from these figures, the cotton crop of Webb county was cut very short in comparison with early estimates of from 5,000 to 6,000 bales here this season, this being due to the extremely dry, hot weather and the ravages of pests. However, next year much of the long staple variety of cotton will be planted in this section, as that experiment with here this season has proven a great success and brings growers a better price than the ordinary variety of cotton.

An Attractive Program. The entertainment to be given by the International Institute at the Royal Monday, November 1, at 8 o'clock, will include musical numbers, costume dances, the dramatic monologue "Colon," and the farce "Los Pantalones." Will Resume Operations Again. The Mirando Oil Co., which was drilling in Zapata county near the Webb county line and suspended operations some months ago on account of the lack of water supply to operate the machinery, and who moved the drilling machinery to another site, are preparing to resume operations again and will go down to a certain depth in search of the precious fluid.

Popular Novel at Rialto. "A Woman's Business," in which Olive Tell is starred and which is soon to be presented at the Rialto Theatre today, is a photo-dramatic adaptation of the popular novel "Nothing a Year" by Charles Belmont Davis. Just as the book was read and enjoyed by many thousands so will the film version be enjoyed by hundreds of thousands for it is one of the most unusual and out of the ordinary features that has reached the screen in many months. "A Woman's Business" details a story that is highly original, a theme that has never before been presented in the silent drama. It is a motion picture that will awaken curiosity and then perfectly satisfy that curiosity. It will appeal to women strongly and deeply interest men too.

NATIONAL ELECTION NEAR; HEAVY VOTE IS PREDICTED

Webb County Is Expected to Cast Heavy Vote From Presidential Electors Down to Constable.

Next Tuesday is election day throughout the United States and its possessions and every office from president of the United States down to the humble office of precinct constable will be filled as a result of the votes cast on that day throughout the nation.

For the first time in many states women will vote in the national and state elections and they are supposed to turn out in force to exercise the privilege given them as American citizens. The presidential campaign is one of the warmest in years and both Republicans and Democrats have waged a hard campaign everywhere. The Republicans in Webb county have been unusually active in the present campaign, have perfected a strong organization and the indications are that the heaviest Republican vote in the history of this county will be cast at the election on next Tuesday, but the Democrats will carry the county by a big majority for presidential electors, governor and every office down to constable, there being no opposition to the district and county candidates in this county, even Congressman John N. Garner being without any opposition from the Republicans at the ensuing election.

One of the figures brought prominently into the public eye by the strike of the British coal miners is Lord Joicey, the great leader of the coal industry in Britain and the largest individual coal producer in the world. Lord Joicey, who is nearing his seventy-fifth year, has been intimately connected with the coal industry since he was ten years old, when he became office boy for his father, a small mine owner. At 21 he had practically complete control of his father's mining property and soon afterward he began to add to his holdings by the purchase of other mines. The output of two companies which he practically owns amounts to some 6,000,000 tons a year, and he has besides large interests in other coal companies. Lord Joicey first entered parliament in 1886 as a Radical which he has remained ever since.

LITTLE BETTING ON ELECTION.

New York, Oct. 27.—For reasons that have not been satisfactorily explained the betting on the results of Tuesday's election appears to be very small in comparison with the amount wagered here in previous presidential contests. Brokers in the Wall Street district who make a practice of placing bets on a commission basis are complaining that they never did so little business in wagers on a national election. With the election only a few days distant the amount of money now at stake in the financial district on the outcome is said to be the smallest that ever has been in the hands of the brokers at such a time. Several million dollars in wagers was handled by the New York brokers in the presidential election four years ago, but it is considered doubtful if the bets made this year will aggregate one million, unless there should be an eleventh-hour rush on the part of those willing to risk money on their political judgment.

SCOTS VOTE ON LIQUOR.

London, Oct. 26.—One week from today the people of Scotland will vote on the momentous liquor question. Altogether, reckoning country parishes, burghs, and burgh wards, the poll will be taken about 1000 electoral areas. It is generally spoken of as a prohibition fight, but in reality absolute prohibition is not the alternative that will be presented to the electors. The voter will have his choice of three resolutions for which to vote:

The first calls for no change, being a declaration that existing conditions are satisfactory.

The second is a limiting resolution which means the reduction of the number of existing licenses in any area by 25 per cent.

The third resolution provides for "No license," but with the important qualification that, if the resolution is adopted, the Licensing Court, on being satisfied that special circumstances make it desirable, may grant one or more licenses for inns, hotels, or restaurants, under proper safeguards.

The campaign has stirred Scotland from end to end. Great meetings have been held all over the country. Every county has been visited, and in the more populous centres meetings are now of nightly occurrence. The speakers who have toured the country declare unanimously that a result of the campaign there is a very strong public opinion in favor of a drastic reduction of the facilities for drinking in Scotland.

While the liquor men are appealing to the people to vote "No change," the people themselves, on the whole, appear satisfied that a change is necessary.

Three of the main arguments of the liquor interests against the "No License" movement, namely, that the idea is a foreign product; that what has worked in America will fail in Scotland; and that the industrial classes will rebel if they are deprived of strong drink, are flatly denied by the temperance leaders, who cite the example of the cluster of prosperous fishermen communities in Aberdeenshire, where voluntary prohibition has been in force for almost twenty years.

At present, there is no talk of an effort to make Scotland "bone dry." The only aim is to abolish or limit the number of public drinking places. The Act under which the coming elections are to be held makes no attempt to forbid private drinking or the acquiring of liquor in quantity for that purpose. "The wholesale trade is not affected, nor is it proposed to interfere with the manufacture or transport of intoxicants."

It is called an "Act to Promote Temperance," and goes no further than giving the electors in any area a chance to say whether they wish to keep all the drinking bars and public houses which they have at present, or whether they would prefer three-fourths of the number or none at all.

The Act is, therefore, a long way from prohibition. Nevertheless, with the example of America before them the liquor interests not only in Scotland but throughout the United Kingdom are aroused to the fighting point, believing that the adoption of "No Licenses" in any community would gradually spread the idea over a much larger section and in the end would prove the entering wedge for the adoption of absolute prohibition.

A dour Scotsman, with a thick crop of sandy hair now turning gray, crowning a lofty and broad forehead; shaggy eyebrows; a nose large, wide-nosed and pug-nosed; and a strong mouth half-revealed under a heavy moustache. Such to the eye is Robert Smillie, the director of the British miners' strike, the acknowledged king of the world of labor—a man who yields a more powerful sceptre than many a king. And yet, powerful as he is in his own realm, the world outside has known little of him. Forty years ago Smillie was working as a lad in a Lanarkshire mine. Ten years later he was appointed secretary to a branch of the Scottish miners' union, of which he became president in 1894, when he inaugurated his tenure of office by organizing a strike. In 1911 he was the leading spirit of the great coal strike, which he conducted with such resolution and ability that the following year saw him promoted to the presidency of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain.

On Growing Old.

Be with me, Beauty, for the fire is dying;

My dog and I are old, too old for roving.

Man, whose young passion sets the pin-drift flying.

Is soon too lame to march, too cold for loving.

I take the book and gather to the fire,

Turning old yellow leaves; minute by minute,

The clock ticks to my heart; a withered wire

Moves a thin ghost of music in the spinet.

I can not sail your seas, I can not wander

Your cornland, nor your hill land nor your valleys.

Ever again, nor share the battle yonder

Where the young knight the brave squadron rallies.

Only stay quiet while my mind remembers

The beauty of fire from the beauty of embers,

So from this glittering world with all its fashion,

Its fire and play of men, its stir, its march,

Let me have wisdom, Beauty, wisdom and passion,

Bread of the soul, rain where the summers parch.

Give me but these, and though the darkness close,

Even the night shall blossom as the rose.

Adventure in Rugged West.

The Strand Theatre presents today and tomorrow the long anticipated Edgar Lewis-Pathe feature, "Lahoma." Mr. Lewis's specialty is the outdoor picture, because he is a lover of Nature and believes that the greatest adventures, the greatest romances, are those enacted in the vast open spaces where God's work is most magnificent. "Lahoma" is a story of the West—of those early days when men left their comfortable homes in the East and took their wives and their children across thousands of miles of rough, hard roads to a young and new land filled with dangers and hardships—adventure and romance. The action of the story revolves around Lahoma and a tender-hearted outlaw who adopts her after rescuing her from death by the outlaws, of whose band he was a member.

ROMAN VILLAS.

By Associated Press.
Paris, Oct. 26.—Archaeologists have discovered in the wood of Enge, near Berne, Switzerland, two Roman villas which appear to have been constructed in the first century B. C., says a Geneva message.

Further excavations are to be made in an attempt to establish the whereabouts of the 12 towns and 400 villages mentioned by Julius Caesar which it is believed existed in the neighborhood. Traces of the former existence of an important Roman colony at this spot have already been discovered.

GERMAN PROFITS.

By Associated Press.
Berlin, Oct. 26.—Ten large German textile concerns earned larger profits for the year ended April, 1926, than in the best years before the war. One Bremen concern increased its profits as compared with last year from 4,400,000 marks to 16,800,000 marks. Including shares allotted gratis to the shareholders, the dividend paid is 62 per cent.

A cotton company increased its profits from 2,900,000 to 9,700,000 marks. Of the other companies the minimum dividend is 36 per cent and there are several dividends exceeding 40 per cent.

The profits are due to the big price rise of last winter. All finished goods put on the market during the winter were priced on the basis of the price of raw cotton at time of their sale, and as raw cotton rapidly advanced in price the public was charged several hundred per cent more than the actual production cost.

WANT MORE MONEY.

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 26.—Requests for appropriations for state departments and institutions received by the Board of Control, which will prepare the appropriation budget for submission to the next legislature, present a total far in excess of the appropriations of two years ago. However, it is predicted by S. B. Cowell, chairman of the board, that these requests will be reduced considerably.

The next legislature will see the inauguration of the budget system of appropriation in Texas. Formerly these estimates were submitted to the state comptroller and passed to the appropriations committees of each house without being reviewed. Under the new law the Board of Control will pass upon all appropriations and eliminate those requests they consider should not be granted, and such amounts as they think should be allowed will be placed in budgets presented to the legislatures. Representatives of institutions have the privilege of appearing before the legislative committees and urging the restoration of items eliminated or reduced by the board. The board has announced that it will give hearings before eliminating items of consequential proportions.

Mr. Crowell said that an unusually large amount has been requested to provide buildings and that institution representatives contend that their building programs were partially suspended during the war. The board will make careful investigations of conditions prompting the request for additional buildings and equipment.

WANTS NATURALIZATION.

By Associated Press.
Corpus Christi, Texas, Oct. 26.—Since women have the ballot, she realizes for the first time the necessity of becoming an American citizen. Miss Maude Karen Sorensen, a native of Denmark, told J. A. Mornt, United States commissioner here, as she applied for first papers. Miss Sorensen, who gave her occupation as "farmer" and said she operated a farm near here, said she came from Denmark in 1881, and until women got the vote had been content to remain a subject of the King of Denmark, although she was loyal to the United States.

"Now there are a number of reformers women can help bring about," she said. "I have a few in mind that I would like to help out on."

NO LONGER OBEY.

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 26.—Congregationalist brides here no longer need promise in the marriage service to obey their husbands.

A committee of the Congregational Union of England and Wales, appointed to draw up a new form of service, has decided that modern ideas favor the omission of the word "obey," and this notwithstanding the fact that no woman sat on the committee; neither were any requests received from women to omit the fatal word.

"All the churches are becoming less strict in their insistence on the wording of the marriage service," said the secretary of the Women's Freedom League. "Even in Anglican churches the word 'obey' is sometimes omitted at the bride's desire, and a great number of leading non-conformist ministers have lately made a practise of cutting out the vow to obey."

COWS FOR GERMANY.

By Associated Press.
San Antonio, Texas, Oct. 26.—Gillespie county in Southwest Texas has shipped 48 Jersey cows to Houston where they will be shipped by the American Dairy Cattle Association to Germany for the purpose of rehabilitating the cattle of that country. CLIPPING LIBRARY.

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, Oct. 26.—More than 3,000 package libraries—bundles of clippings upon related subjects—have been loaned by the University of Texas Extension Library since March 1. For the year ending March, 5,500 of these libraries, an increase of 80 per cent over the previous year, had been put into circulation.

Library authorities estimate that the 3,000 packages, which went to 645 different towns and rural communities in 220 counties have reached 55,000 people, as schools and clubs are frequent borrowers.

The purpose of the extension library is to supply material up to date on any question that may be submitted. This is done by extensively clipping magazines and classifying as to subjects. At present there are 1,300 packages of clippings which constantly are revised by the addition of fresh material and the discarding of that which is out of date.

By Associated Press.
Dublin, Oct. 26.—Eight men, said to be residents of Cork, were arrested last evening as they were about to sail for England. The police are investigating whether they were merely going to the funeral of Lord Mayor MacSwiney or whether there is a possibility that they intended to avenge his death. Each of the men wore the uniform of the Irish Republican army under his ordinary garb and one carried four disguises. None of them was armed.

Cochran, under arrest at Aspermont, Texas, in connection with an alleged insurance fraud, declared in a statement to Sheriff Bingham last night that he was kidnapped by a Mexican and held prisoner in New Mexico for seven months, during which period his wife believed Cochran dead and collected $10,000 life insurance. Cochran in March, 1919, was reported to have died and that his body had been buried near Aspermont. Recently officers examined Cochran's grave and found it empty. The grand jury at Aspermont started an inquiry into the case today, Cochran having been taken into custody at Sterling City last Saturday.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—Patrol Sergeant Edward Marpool was killed early today by an unidentified bandit who later met his death after fighting four pitched gun fights with the police. Marpool, answering a call, met two bandits and was killed before he could draw his gun. Three hundred policemen drew a cordon around the district and took up the hunt for the bandit's slayer. Four times the bandit tried to break through the ring, but each time was driven back after hot fights. The firing finally ceased when the police advanced and found the bandit dead in a vacant lot.

WHEAT PRICES ROSE.

NEED TECHNICAL MEN.

By Associated Press.
College Station, Texas, Oct. 26.—The present demand for men with technical training is so great that Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College is unable to furnish men to fill all of the positions from which requests are made. Not only is the demand for chemists and chemical engineers great, but requests for farm managers and livestock experts constantly exceed the number of men available.

ALEXANDER'S DEATH CREATES A VACANCY

THRONE PROBABLY BE OFFERED TO HIS BROTHER PAUL ON CERTAIN STATED CONDITIONS.

By Associated Press.
Athens, Oct. 26.—Many difficulties regarding the succession to the Greek throne will result from the death of King Alexander, which occurred last night. There is every indication that the throne will be offered Prince Paul, the third son of former King Constantine, but as a condition Constantine must formally abdicate and Prince George, the other brother of Paul, must renounce his rights. Only in the event of Constantine's persistent refusal would there be a question of the establishment of a republic but it is known that Premier Venizelos is of the opinion that Greece is not yet ripe for that form of government.

Athens, Oct. 26.—The throne of Greece, made vacant by the death of King Alexander, will be offered Prince Paul, the third son of former King Constantine, it is officially announced.

By Associated Press.
London, Oct. 26.—Formal negotiations between the government and executive officers of the miners' federation in an effort to settle the coal strike were reopened this morning, indicating that the informal discussion which had been in progress since Sunday had proved satisfactory, at least in some measure. The miners' executive body previously had been in conference over the government's new proposals and as a result of their deliberations decided to begin formal negotiations.

CHOLERA IN CHINA.

By Associated Press.
New York, Oct. 26.—As a result of the frequent movements of Chinese troops in Szechuan Province, West China, cholera has been spread more extensively recently than in the last 20 years. This is the opinion of Professor Daniel S. Dye, of West China Union University, expressed in a letter to Rev. W. R. Taylor, a representative of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society in China, now on furlough here.

The disease has caused great ravages in Tungchwan, Chungking and Chengtu as well as many of the smaller villages. Americans and Europeans are virtually immune. Professor Dye said, due largely to the unusual precautions observed by them in the preparation of food and in the matter of hygiene and diet.

The first graduates of the university medical school, who recently received their diplomas, are serving as internes in hospitals in the province. Professor Dye was formerly a member of the faculty of the University of Wisconsin. He is a native of New Matamoras, Ohio.

THE CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

According to the sworn reports of the respective treasurers of the national campaign committees, the Democrats expended nearly $700,000 while the Republicans expended nearly $2,500,000. That is, the Republicans spent in their efforts up to October 20 more than three and a half times as much as the Democrats.

There are at least two reasons for this discrepancy in expenditure by the two parties for the same purpose. One is that the Republicans are backed by the moneyed men of the nation and therefore found it easy to secure this preponderantly greater sum; the other is, that Republican success means more to the moneyed interests of the nation than it does to the people.

It can be safely stated that the report of the Republican campaign committee does not by any means represent all the expenditures tending to elect the Republican candidate. Not that the treasurer or the other members of the campaign committee have rendered false returns, but the excess amount contributed did not pass through the hands of the committee and was not entered on its books.

The sensation caused by Governor Cox's charges that the Republicans were raising an enormous slush fund to elect their candidate had its effect. There were more ways of using money than by sending it to campaign headquarters, where it would have to be entered on the books and accounted for. So the other—and more devious—ways were adopted and used. Of that there is not the slightest doubt.

Every penny expended for the election of the Democratic candidates was accounted for and entered on the books for public inspection. Of this there can be no doubt, and it is surprising to many that the amount reported was named, for it was not expected that so much could be secured.

The Democratic party is the party of the people—the common people, to use the ordinary expression. In the party there are no men representing the protected industries, no great capitalists, no men whose interests would be conserved by the success of a presidential candidate, other than the interests of all the people are their interests.

On the other hand, the Republican party is the party that has built up the great fortunes of the country since the sixties, that has made it possible for some industries to charge "all the traffic will bear," that has fostered the captains of industry at the expense of the poor, and it is but natural that these men should be actuated by gratitude for the past, as well as expectation for the future.

It remains to be seen whether a liberal—even an extravagant—expenditure of money can really buy enough votes to secure a majority of the electoral college. The people are no longer as ignorant as they were when the "full dinner pail" slogan made them vote to take money out of their own pockets by electing the men who taxed everybody to make their gains greater.

The attempt to swing the labor vote has failed. The Democratic party has not attempted to appeal to class consciousness, but it cannot help showing that the most progressive labor laws ever enacted were made law in Ohio under the administration of the present Democratic candidate for president.

The bankers have seen that the federal reserve system was built up under the Democratic administration, and that the most vicious attacks on the system which has already proved its worth to the people, as well as to the bankers, have come from the Republican party.

Farmers, professional men, capitalists and workmen, all the varied industrial and economical interests of the country, have been benefitted by the administration which is now held up to scorn by the only interests which are opposed to the people—the heads of the industries which see the election of a Republican name opt. which will rest.

THE LAST CHAPTER.

The last chapter in the life of Terence MacSwiney, the Irish "patriot" who has just ended his own life, is finished, and humanity forbids that anything worse be said of him than that he was mistaken in his course which led to the grave.

The Sinn Feiners will attempt to make a martyr of the misguided man who deliberately chose death rather than submit to the decision of the law, but even they cannot help seeing that their "cause" has gained nothing by MacSwiney's death.

One may object to black as a choice, but he cannot change it to another color by refusing to call it black. The law remains the law, no matter how many lawless men oppose it, and the refusal of one man—or a hundred—to obey the law does not make it any less the law.

MacSwiney was a member of a society which committed, individually and collectively, many crimes against organized government. Men whose sole offense was that they were enforcing the law were murdered, and the attempt to invest the murder with the official character of war between Great Britain and the "republic" of Ireland failed, because not even the members of the Sinn Fein believed in the farce.

MacSwiney, with others, was arrested after one of the particularly atrocious murders had taken place, and when arraigned before the court he denied its jurisdiction, refused to answer questions, and finally was convicted on the evidence of witnesses who could not be successfully controverted, and sentenced to two years in prison.

He declared that he would never live to serve the sentence and that within a month he would be dead. Then began the deliberate attempt at suicide, from which he was not deterred by all the efforts of the prison authorities.

Others were as much to blame as MacSwiney for his death. It was useless to resort to force, for that might have resulted in his death, which was what the authorities were determined to prevent by all possible means. His relatives, his friends and his associates in the rebel organization all commended him for his course, for it was felt that the cause "needed a martyr." But to compare the late lord mayor of Cork with a martyr like Robert Emmett, for instance, is to desecrate the name of patriot.

Those who should have attempted to dissuade the misguided man from carrying out his deliberate suicidal intention unfortunately took the other side. His wife, who it would seem might be expected to desire the life of her husband rather than his death, urged him to continue in the course which has just ended in his death.

No good can come of such an attempt. It is as surely self murder as if the poor unfortunate had jumped into the river or had hanged himself. He has done nothing to prove the righteousness of his cause, for a cause that needs suicide added to murder to bolster it up is weak.

The death of MacSwiney may lead to bloodshed, for it will be used by the wily leaders of the movement to arouse the passions of the ignorant and debased among their followers.

But it can never lead to the triumph of the rebel movement. That movement, based upon bloodshed and violence, can no more succeed than the Bolshevik movement in Russia, to which it bears a strong resemblance.

The British government is not to be condemned for the death of the Irish mayor. It could not release him, for that would be to acknowledge the justice of MacSwiney's contention, that he was actuated by pure motives in the murder of policemen and that his "government" was actually at war with Great Britain.

Peace to his ashes. At least he had physical as well as moral courage, and even his obstinacy had a touch of the sublime.

HAS TAKEN THE VEIL.

By Associated Press.

London, Oct. 25.—The former Grand Duchess Maria Adelaide of Luxembourg, who abdicated as ruler of that nation last January and was succeeded by her sister, Charlotte, has taken the veil in a Carmelite convent at Modena, says a Milan despatch to the Times. She quit as head of the Luxembourg government as the result of opposition of her subjects on the ground that she had been too friendly with the Germans during the war.

According to the information received from Modena she walked to the convent of St. Theresa to enter it as novice. Her hair had been cut short and she was dressed simply in blue with a black silk cap on her head. Accompanied by her mother, sister and two friends she entered the convent and was received in the hall by Father Cherubino and other ecclesiastics. The former Duchess kissed her mother and sister and knelt holding white flowers in her hands.

Maria Adelaide listened smiling to an address by Father Cherubino and while the sisters sang a hymn, and then Father Cherubino pointed to the door. The new novice arose, walked slowly to the door, turned on the threshold to nod smilingly to her mother and then entered the convent.

CAPRA REDEEMED HIMSELF AND GOT LAREDO SCALPS

Good Game of Baseball Was Witnessed by Number of Fans at Caliche Park Sunday Afternoon.

Notwithstanding the threatening weather that prevailed yesterday afternoon, a good-sized crowd was present at Caliche Park to witness what resolved itself into one of the most interesting baseball games of the season between the 17th Infantry-American Legion team and the Laredo team, resulting in a victory for the 17th-A. L. by a score of 2 to 1.

Matt Capra, the new pitcher for the 17th-A. L. was on the mound for the victors, with Silverman receiving, while the battery for the Laredos were Pierce and Glasling. The combination team took the lead in the first inning, when one run was scored, and the Laredos tied the score in their half of the fourth round. From there on it was a pitchers' battle between Capra and Pierce, and in the last inning the combination found Cholly and brought home the needed run to win the game.

RAINFALL HAS BEEN LIGHT BUT IT WILL DO GREAT GOOD

Little Over Inch and Half Fallen Here Since Friday, But All Moisture Has Soaked In.

Since last Friday morning, up to 8 o'clock this morning, a little over one and one-half inches of rain have been recorded in the Laredo section, the records showing as follows: Friday, Oct. 22, 1.10 inches; Saturday, Oct. 23, .22 of an inch; Sunday-Monday, Oct. 24-25, .20 of an inch.

From reports reaching here the rainfall has been general throughout this entire section, though Laredo appears to have received a much lesser precipitation than was recorded elsewhere north of here, especially toward Cotulla, where the rainfall is said to have been around three inches during the past three days. However, the cloudy weather which has followed the wet spell promises much good for farmers and cattlemen, as all the moisture has soaked into the ground and will help the soil, whereas if the sun had come out after the rain it would have been dried out. Therefore what rainfall that has fallen will prove of inestimable value to farms and ranches generally and put the soil in good condition for grasses, onions, etc.

THE TEXAS-MEXICAN RY. CO. ISSUES CIRCULAR LETTER

Calls Attention to Important Changes Effective December 1st. Per Order Recently Issued.

The following is a copy of a portion of a circular letter issued by C. M. Fish, traffic manager of the Texas-Mexican Ry. Co., in this city, to friends and patrons of the company:

To Our Friends: The opinion of the Interstate Commerce Commission in Docket No. 10173 will soon be published in tariff form to become effective December 1, 1920. Believing that our friends are entitled to notice of changes so important as those involved in Docket 10173 this Circular is being sent out. The change in which receivers of Carload freight are most interested will be the addition to the present reconsigning rules of the following paragraph:

"Shipments covered by 'order' or 'order notify' bills of lading placed on hold tracks, awaiting surrender of lading, or shipments which are placed for inspection of contents before delivery and which necessitate subsequent movement of car to place of delivery, will be considered as reconsignments within the switching limits before placement, and subject to the rules and charges provided in Rule 11; PROVIDED, That the surrender of the original bill of lading shall not be a condition precedent to the placement of the car or to the giving of the order designating where the car shall be placed for unloading, except that where place of delivery designated is other than the local team tracks original bills of lading must be surrendered or indemnity bond executed in lieu thereof or other satisfactory assurance given carrier."

The effect of the enforcement of this rule will be that consignees who desire carload freight placed on industry tracks, or any tracks other than public delivery tracks, must, when shipments are billed to "order" or "order notify" surrender the original bill of lading, execute indemnity bond or give assurance satisfactory to carrier, before the arrival of the car, otherwise a penalty of $2.50 or $7.00 per car will be assessed as a reconsigning charge.

Another change by which all interested in the shipment of onions and vegetables are effected is the limitation placed on the reconsigning of perishable freight.

Despite the inclement weather and bad streets, large throngs went to the Rialto Theater yesterday afternoon and night to witness the big first National production, "45 Minutes From Broadway," starring that peer of all screen artists, Charles Ray, known as "the rube of all rubes." The play is on the program at the Rialto again today and tonight.

Those who saw the play yesterday and last night are more than ever convinced that for real, wholesome entertainment Charles Ray is at his best in his first independent production from his own studio and the amount of wholesome laughter and the genuine enjoyment that all got out of "45 Minutes From Broadway" is an indication that everybody who was there will tell everybody who wasn't there and the Rialto will have capacity audiences against this evening, rain or shine. This is one of the strongest and best comedy-dramas ever shown in Laredo, and if you want to get an evening of genuine, wholesome amusement, don't fail to go to the Rialto this evening.

Yesterday the men volunteered to come back to the American side with Marshal Brennan, and they brought the stolen car with them. They were taken into custody by officers from San Antonio and taken to that place in the car yesterday.

ASK CONTRIBUTIONS FOR DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN USES

Texas Committee Asks That Funds Be Sent to Dallas for the Last Week of the Campaign.

A wire received from J. A. Kemp, chairman of the Democratic campaign fund for Texas, asks the Democrats of Laredo and Webb county to contribute to the national campaign fund in this, the last week of the campaign, which closes on Saturday.

The receipts up to October 20 were $677,934.87, while the expenditures were $699,071.69. That is, the committee borrowed and expended $21,136.82 more than was contributed.

Of course this small amount will be made up, but for the last week of the campaign more will be needed, and all Democrats are asked to give something to help finish the campaign in an effective way.

It will be noted that there is no situation that "money will help to win," but that money is needed for the legitimate expenses of the campaign. No one is asked to give more than he can afford; there is no promise of office for those who help to win, or any other inducement offered. It is merely an appeal to loyal Democrats to do their bit in helping pay the expenses of the campaign, and it is trusted that all will do what they can.

Contributions should be sent to J. A. Kemp, Chairman, 327 Western Independence Building, Dallas, Texas.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone is enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

Rudolph Joseph Came to This County From His Native Land in Germany Forty-five Years Ago.

Rudolph Joseph, a native of Hesselbach, Germany, aged 71 years, and who for the past 45 years had made his home in the United States, at Corpus Christi and Laredo, died at the home of his son-in-law, Ferdinand Wormser, 1912 Matamoros street, on Saturday, October 23, at 11:40 a. m. following a spell of illness that had lasted some time.

Deceased was a good business man and owned valuable property interests in both Corpus Christi and Laredo. Besides his daughter, Mrs. F. Wormser, he is survived by six grandchildren and four great grandchildren, of Laredo and Corpus Christi, all of whom have the sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

The funeral took place from the Wormser home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and was largely attended, services being conducted by Rabbi David Rosenbaum of Austin, and interment was made in the Jewish plot in the city cemetery. Many beautiful floral tributes attested the esteem in which the deceased was held. The following acted as pallbearers: Active—Joe Moser, I. Polakoff, Sol Rubenstein, Will Dales, B. M. This association, in an effort to familiarize people of Texas with the symbol of the fight against the white plague—the double barred red cross—recently sent cuts of this emblem to 600 Texas newspapers.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS.

OCTOBER 25.

Arthur Henderson, who is coming to America to get in closer touch with the labor party movement on this side, is numbered among the foremost leaders of the British Labor Party. His career has been a remarkable one. Beginning work in a butcher's shop at the age of twelve, he afterwards became an iron-molder, at which trade he worked steadily until his election to Parliament in 1903.

During the past decade the one-time butcher's boy has served successively as Privy Councillor, President of the Board of Education, Paymaster-General, and, during the period of the war, as one of the five "War Lords," on whose decisions and conduct the fate of the British Empire depended. The dominant trait in Mr. Henderson's character perhaps is his good nature, but he is not averse to a fight when a fight appears necessary, especially when it is against odds.

Spanish Drama.

An entertainment is to be given at the Royal Monday evening November 1 by The International Institute. The occasion is a step toward the inauguration of a music and drama society among the foreign-speaking community. The purpose with which the formation of the society will be undertaken will be that of stimulating the cultural development of the foreign-speaking community and shaping it into the life of the community as a whole. The study will include music, literature and drama in both Spanish and English. This study however will not be confined to the purely serious and classical. The aims and spirit of the society will be broadly recreational, and include frolics as well as study, the lesser forms of recreation such as stunts, programs, glee-club singing and farces as well as the nobler forms of "recreation" in music, drama and literature.

Also the directors and staff of the Institute are working on the idea in the belief that such a society would have an earning capacity which would not only very adequately support itself but be able gradually to bank earnings which can go for the up building of various community organizations including the Institute itself. The event to take place on November 1st at The Royal therefore will serve in a way as a step toward securing general interest among the Spanish-speaking community in the work of securing local support for the future of the Institute in Laredo.

Further information on the work of the Institute as a center for sociability and recreation will perhaps be of interest to the community connection with the entertainment November 1st, and will be given during the week.

HATE SOLDIERS NOW.

By Associated Press.

Dublin, Oct. 25.—In many parts of Ireland friendly relations prevail between the soldiers and the people, and nowhere are they regarded with the bitter hostility displayed toward the police, and particularly toward the recently imported English police known as the Black-and-Tans. But a change has been noted of late.

At Omagh a dance was being held at which several men of the Kings Royal Rifles and the Inniskilling Fusiliers had paid for admission and were enjoying themselves when a note was handed in by a masked man to the effect that, if any English soldier was allowed to take part in the dance, drastic steps would be taken. The soldiers took the matter in good humor, and left rather than cause any unpleasantness.

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy.

BUYS GERMAN GOODS.

By Associated Press.

Amerongen, Oct. 25.—The "Made in Germany" sign is still a fetish to the former German Emperor. Though he is reported to feel that his country treated him shamefully, nevertheless he continues to buy for himself and his little court at Doorn German goods, sent direct from Berlin when possible, notwithstanding the fact that he has been in Holland nearly two years. This was most recently demonstrated when in furnishing the little hospital William had built here as a memorial of his stay in Amerongen, he had practically every stick of furniture and other equipment sent from Berlin. In revenge, it is said here, Dutch tradesmen with whom the exile has to deal at Doorn, and also the workmen whom he has to engage from time to time, charge him all that the traffic will bear.

AN HONEST GUIDE.

By Associated Press. Leyden, Holland, Oct. 25.—American tourists who come here are frequently shown by the guides in St. Peter's church, where the Pilgrim Fathers worshipped before going to America, a stone, under which, the guides say, lies the body of Pastor John Robinson, the pilgrim's leader.

The correspondent the other day took one of the guides aside and expressed doubts about it, whereupon the guide opened his heart and said: "As a matter of fact, sir, we do not really know ourselves. We had all the stones up some years ago and we found a number of skeletons, but it was impossible to identify them. We could not even see whether they had been men or women."

"But," he added naively, "you have to say something to your visitors. Now, have you not, sir?"

COTTON GINNING IS FULLY UP TO NORMAL

SPORADIC ATTEMPTS TO KEEP GINS CLOSED HAVE FAILED TO KEEP DOWN THE TOTAL.

By Associated Press. Washington, Oct. 25.—The government's cotton ginning report today showed a total of 5,712,057 bales ginned prior to October 15 and indicated that sporadic attempts through the cotton belt to keep gins closed until the price of cotton advanced to higher levels had little effect. Ginnings this year aggregate 782,953 bales more than the quantity ginned to October 18 last year, when the crop was 794,000 smaller than the forecast for this year. On the government's forecast of a crop of about 12,123,000 bales this year, ginning to October 18 appeared to be about 47.1 per cent of normal. Ginnings in Texas this year to October 18 amount to 2,595,147 bales.

By Associated Press. Warsaw, Oct. 25.—Major Charles E. S. Webster, of Bethlehem, Pa., has arrived in Warsaw from Armenia to direct the attack of the American Red Cross on Poland's 250,000 known cases of typhus. Dr. Webster made a special study of sanitation and disease for the American government mission in Armenia.

"It will take 10 years at the present rate of progress," Dr. Webster said, "to wipe out typhus in Poland. The fever has become epidemic through six years of almost continuous fighting. We must have disinfectants, soap, clean linen, and clothing in great quantities if we are to make any impression against the scourge."

By Associated Press. Brussels, Oct. 25.—Leon Bourgeois, president of the council of the league of nations, talking to American newspaper correspondents last night, said Article Ten of the league covenant was not considered by European statesmen as a vital and essential element of the covenant. M. Bourgeois said he had been surprised that this Article Ten had caused so much emotion in the United States, as it could be eliminated without modifying the effectiveness of the league.

"Article Ten," he asserted, "is scarcely more than a moral background to the covenant."

Washington, Oct. 25.—The Mexican government and the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway company have reached an agreement under which the company is to construct a railroad about 35 miles long from Del Rio, Texas, to Altamira, Coahuila, on the Mexican International railroad, the department of commerce was advised today by Trade Commissioner Cunningham at Mexico City. The new road will afford a direct route between Kansas City and Mexico City with a saving of 24 hours, the trade commissioner said, and an equal saving in time on the route to the Pacific coast over the Southern Pacific railway.

A CLEVER MOVE.

While people in this section are talking about the benefits that would come from other railway connections, the railroads in other sections are going ahead and building the connections they want, and are thus stealing a march on Laredo.

The latest move of this sort is the agreement the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway secured with the Mexican government by which the company builds thirty-five miles of road from Del Rio to Allende, Coahuila, connecting there with the Mexican International.

The Kansas City road thus secures a direct route from Kansas City to Mexico City, cutting off about twenty-four hours in traffic between the two points, and also making a connection a short distance above Del Rio with the main line of Southern Pacific, so that people who want to go from Mexico City to Los Angeles may cut out a big detour and go direct instead of passing through Laredo and San Antonio.

This also opens up new trade territory for the Kansas City merchants, and they will not be slow to take advantage of it. It is true that the American terminal of the Kansas City road has few facilities as yet, but if the traffic grows as much as is expected, the city of Del Rio will also grow to meet the expansion, and there will be another important gateway into Mexico.

It is reported that the new line from Matamoros south is to be begun soon, and this will greatly facilitate the traffic along the coast direct into Mexico and will no doubt take away some of the business that now passes through our city.

There is one railway that is needed in Laredo; the down-the-river road about which so much has been said and so little done. For years it has been the dream of some of our people to develop the lower country and make Laredo the outlet for the business which would result from that development.

But there has been much dreaming and little realization; much talk and little accomplishment. There are few who do not realize the benefit the opening of new trade territory would bring to this section, but still fewer are those who seem to be willing to work for the bringing about of this much-desired consummation.

Just now there seems to be some hope of the road being built. It is being put up to the people of Laredo in a definite and practical way. They are offered the opportunity of subscribing for stock in the proposed railway, and are not asked for a bonus. And the amount that it is proposed to raise here is so comparatively small when it is realized that Laredo stands to gain more than any other town along the route—if not indeed more than all of them together—that it seems certain it will be secured and work begun within a short time.

We cannot afford to lose any of the trade we now have. We should not complacently view any menace to our supremacy as the legitimate gateway to and from Mexico. And when any new trade territory which is legitimately ours is offered to us on a platter, we should not hesitate to accept it.

Were this any country but the United States, the border would be paralleled by a splendid highway; it would be tapped at frequent intervals by railways capable of handling all the traffic that should be carried on between the rich territory of the neighbor to the South and the great industrial nation to the North. And more trade would come as a result of preparing to handle it.

Some day the people of this section will look back with surprise on the long period of slackness during which no railway or highway building was carried on in this section, and will wonder what we could have been thinking of to neglect such a promising field of endeavor. And by then the down-the-river road will have been built.

THE VENAL PRESS.

For many years the Saturday Evening Post has been noted as one of the absolutely non-partisan journals of the country. And incidentally it has been almost the only magazine whose editorial opinion carried any weight among the people.

It was because it was non-partisan and impartial, although not hesitating to administer a corrective slap on the wrist where deserved and needed, that the people had confidence in it, and respected its opinions as honest and independent.

But recently the editorial columns of the Post have trended toward the outspoken support of the Republican presidential candidate, although this is the first time the paper has ever supported the candidacy of any political candidate, and this week's issue, according to Governor Cox, who has been furnished with an advance copy, is an open attack, through cartoon and editorial, on the Democratic candidate and an unequalled support of the Republican candidate.

It must be remembered that the owner of the Saturday Evening Post is a capitalist, to whom even the enormous earnings of the weekly magazine are but a small item when compared with his other sources of income. He belongs to the great capitalist class which is supporting Harding for reasons of its own, and in thus permitting his paper to contradict its past attitude he is killing two birds with one stone; he is adding to the income of the paper through its advertising columns, and he is helping the candidacy of the man he wants to elect for his own good.

There is no advertising medium in the world which has enjoyed a greater measure of the confidence of the people than the Saturday Evening Post. It was considered an impartial journal, one whose opinions were of value because they were not dominated by any individual or group, and it has perhaps the widest circulation of any magazine in the world.

But once it has lost its reputation for fairness and impartiality, it will lose its value, both as an advertising medium and as a teacher and guide for the people. A newspaper must be like Caesar's wife.

The mails brought another paper, one devoted to the interests of the publishers of America, which also seems to have betrayed its high mission and to have become one of the venal press.

This paper says, under a display head, that "the country publishers' opportunity is at hand; Democratic money has been spent in magazines an national weeklies, while free publicity has been handed out to the country press; the Republicans are using the country newspapers and publishers will be paid their regular advertising rates."

There is something so impudent in this open misstatement of facts that one wonders how a great concern supported by the publishers of the country newspapers can dare to stand up and tell them something which all know is not the truth.

Go to the newsstand and pick up any one of the magazines, or all of them. What do you find? Full page advertisements of the Republican campaign committee, with pictures of the Republican candidates. Not a line from the Democratic committee; not a single picture of the Democratic candidates; not one word of commendation for the Democratic platform, but columns declaring that Harding is the choice of the people.

It is true that many columns have appeared in the country press in support of Cox and Roosevelt. It is probable that very little money was paid by the Democratic committee to the country newspapers, but it is certain that no newspaper anywhere in the country was subsidized by the Democratic national committee, while there is every evidence that many metropolitan newspapers were paid big sums of money to support the Republican nominees.

The people want the truth and when they learn it they will act on their own initiative.

EXAMINE PUPILS.

By Associated Press.
New York, Oct. 26.—School teachers will examine every pupil in New York November 9 to determine their physical fitness. The Department of Health set aside the day to stimulate interest of the teachers in their work, expecting them to more quickly detect physical defects and report them promptly to the school physician.

For 23 years a Department of Health doctor or nurse has visited each public and parochial school in New York daily. The teachers report to them any child exhibiting signs of illness. Nurses examine all pupils monthly for contagious eye and skin diseases and pronounced physical shortcomings. Those having symptoms of contagious diseases are immediately sent home.

In this way contagious diseases have been held under control here. This was shown in the influenza epidemics which were checked in the schools so forcibly that attendance was proportionately as great as during the same period in other years, and the sickness and death rate was lower in the five to fifteen-year-old group than for any other period of life.

The Health Department expects to make vigorous search for unhealthy pupils in the future. Most of the magazine are but a small item when compared with his other sources of income. He belongs to the great capitalist class which is supporting

HOLD IMPORTANT MEETING AT ELKS HALL ON THURSDAY

EVERY MEMBER OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE EXPECTED ATTEND

Federal, State, County and City Officials of Both Sides of Rio Grande Will Attend the Meeting.

The board of directors of the Laredo Chamber of Commerce have arranged to hold the annual election for new directors for the year 1920-1921 at Elks Hall on Thursday evening, October 28th, at eight o'clock. At this meeting thirteen members of the Laredo Chamber of Commerce will be selected to serve as directors for the next year, and it is expected that the biggest meeting ever held by the Chamber of Commerce will be had.

The membership committee, which financed its work last week, succeeded in increasing the individual membership of the Laredo Chamber of Commerce over one hundred per cent. All of these new members are earnestly requested to be present at the annual election, and to take full part in the selection of new directors and planning bigger and broader things for Laredo for the next year.

Plans are being made to make this annual event one of particular interest with reference to Mexico and Laredo's Mexico business. Being the gateway to Mexico, and the principal port on the Mexican border from every standpoint, this city is materially interested in keeping the avenues of trade open, and extending to Mexican business institutions every convenience and courtesy possible that they may continue making Laredo their border headquarters instead of perhaps choosing some other city.

A banquet Thursday night there will be present a number of the officials of the Mexican government, including the Mayor of Nuevo Laredo, the members of the Chamber of Commerce, the collectors of customs, and, of course, the consular general, who is so earnest and efficient in the work of serving the interests of the two republics in the position he occupies.

The arrangements committee for the banquet, composed of Matias de Llano, chairman; I. Rodriguez, Albert Martin, J. A. Rodriguez and W. S. Cantrell, have things in shape for a rousing good time.

It is expected that the 17th Infantry Band from Fort McIntosh will furnish music for the occasion. This is not only the most important meeting of the Chamber of Commerce for the year from a business standpoint, but the arrangements committee expects it to be the most pleasant social event for the business and commercial interests of the city that has been held in our town in a long time.

Please remember, Mr. Citizen, and particularly every member of the Chamber of Commerce, that if you are not standing in your place to cast your vote and do your part for the beginning of this new year for the Chamber of Commerce, that your part will not be done. Every move made, every new enterprise started, and everything that is for the building up of Laredo, builds your business and makes your town a better town. Come out to the meeting, therefore, and do your part, and you will feel a whole lot better for having done so.

On the program will be city officials, county officials, state officials and national officials, and there is something particularly interesting and instructive for every member who will be present.

THE "BANDA ESTADO MAYOR" ARRIVES HERE FRIDAY WEEK

MEXICO'S GREATEST MUSICAL ORGANIZATION HERE NOV. 5.

Series of Concerts Will Be Given Here, But More Definite Information Will Be Furnished Later.

The Estado Mayor Band, composed of about 110 musicians representing the best musical artists of Mexico, and conceded to be one of the greatest musical organizations of that country since the days of the Banda Policia of the time of Diaz, will be in Laredo to give a series of concerts on November 5, according to information received by Mexican Consul General Arturo de Saracho from official sources yesterday afternoon.

This great musical organization will begin a series of concerts in San Antonio on next Saturday, October 30, and remain there until the following Thursday evening. Leaving San Antonio on Thursday night the Estado Mayor Band will arrive in Laredo on Friday morning, November 5, and report to Consul General de Saracho as per instructions from President de la Huerta, who is a warm personal friend of the consul general. Mayor Leopoldo Villegas and a committee of Chamber of Commerce members are arranging for taking care of the members of the organization, etc., while a definite program as to where the open air concerts by the band in Laredo will take place will be announced in a few days.

This famous musical organization, which attended the Texas State Fair at Dallas, favored only a few Texas cities' requests for concerts, these being El Paso, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio and Laredo. A rare musical treat is in store for lovers of music in this city and thousands of people will turn out to hear the selections, and the indications are that wherever the concerts are held it will be surrounded by thousands of people extending over an area several blocks away. Programs of each concert will be furnished The Times as soon as received from the director of the organization early in the coming week, and these programs will all show high-class selections.

The meeting is held in the interest of the campaign for $1,300,000 in the Synod of Texas for the equipment and endowment of the Presbyterian colleges. A similar banquet will be held Thursday evening in Corpus Christi. Mr. Wharton returns home Friday afternoon.

LAREDO LOSES REV. WALTER L. BARR; YOAKUM GETS HIM

Untiring Pastor of Methodist Church Here Will Be Succeeded by Rev. N. K. Fred as New Pastor.

Rev. N. K. Fred is the new Methodist pastor of Laredo, while Rev. W. L. Barr, who for the past five years had done a great work for the Methodist congregation in this city and built up the membership to an extent greater than any predecessor had accomplished, has been transferred to the pastorate of the Methodist church at Yoakum.

Despite the pleadings of a delegation of prominent Methodists sent from Laredo to the West Texas Conference at San Marcos, which has just adjourned, asking the conference to allow Rev. Barr to remain at Laredo and continue his great work, the conference decided that Rev. Barr had done his full duty here and other places needed the services of this indefatigable worker, so he was assigned to the Methodist pastorate at Yoakum. Wherever he goes he will make friends not only for himself but for his church, for he is of the kind that works while he works and puts his every effort grinding to accomplish his purpose. Laredo deeply regrets to lose Rev. Walter L. Barr, but the people commend him to the Methodists of Yoakum as a pastor who will accomplish great good for them.

A DEMOCRATIC VISIT.

By Associated Press.

Geneva, Oct. 27.—The former Emperor Charles of Austria, nephew of the late Emperor Francis-Joseph, was received in democratic fashion when he visited a few days ago the cradle of the Hapsburg dynasty, the ruined chateau Hapsburg in the Canton of Argovie.

A Swiss farmer who now owns the grounds of the former chateau invited the erstwhile monarch into his kitchen and the exiled ruler and the farmer had an animated talk for nearly an hour. Charles was accompanied by two priests and two detectives.

The Hapsburg castle was constructed in the year 1020 but only the outer walls are standing today. The ancestors of Charles were expelled from Switzerland in 1386 after they had been defeated in the battle of Sem-pach.

MANY GOING HOME TO VOTE.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 27.—Official Washington is looking to the results of the general election next Tuesday with many evidences of anxious interest. Although denied the right of local suffrage this city, because of the presence of the national government, takes the greatest interest in the outcome.

This interest is evidenced by the large number of government employees who are preparing to return to their home States to vote. It is estimated that the exodus at the end of the week will embrace fully 10,000 employees, including cabinet officers, bureau heads and others. The figures promise to reach the highest in many years, notwithstanding the high cost of travel and the lack of free transportation which was easily available in years gone by.

INDIAN PAGEANT TO BE HELD.

St. Louis, Oct. 27.—More than ordinary interest is attached to the convention of the American Society of the American Indian to be held here next month. The features will include a pageant and an exhibition of the industrial, artistic and scientific accomplishments of the American Indian.

The convention purposes is to improve the conditions of the remaining original Americans. About 500 delegates representing all the remaining tribes will be present. The society was organized for the purpose of obtaining for the American Indian the opportunities and rights of American citizens.

Among the distinguished Indians expected to attend the gathering are the Rev. Sherman Coolidge, of the Arapahoes; Dr. Carlos Montezuma, Apache; Dr. Charles Eastman, Sioux; Charles D. Carter, Chokasaw, and W. W. Hastings, Cherokee.

St. Louis historical and archaeological societies are to aid in the presentation of the pageant. It is probable some episode of St. Louis history in which Indians figured will be the subject of presentation.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. From a small beginning its sale and use has extended to all parts of the United States and to many foreign countries. This alone is enough to convince one that it is a medicine of more than ordinary merit. Give it a trial and you will find this to be the case.

Alpha Club Anniversary Ball.

The social event of the season in Laredo was the anniversary ball given by the Alpha Club at the Latin American Club on Tuesday evening, the event commemorating the fifth anniversary of the organization, which is composed of some of Laredo's most popular young ladies. For the occasion the ball room, dining hall and punch bowl were decorated with most esthetic taste and everywhere the club color, pink, was in evidence. Villar's Orchestra furnished the music for the occasion and the grand march, led by Miss Luisa Dickinson, president of the Alpha Club, and Mr. J. A. Rodriguez, comprised a long line, fully fifty couples taking part in the initial number on the program. The floor manager for the first section of the dance program was Mrs. R. F. Alexander, while the last section was in charge of Miss Raquel Garza Gongora. The decoration of the ball room, besides the club color comprising pink bows and flowers, was beautiful with the electrical effect provided by the letters "A. C." which attracted much attention and favorable comment. The punch bowl, occupying a little nook lavishly decorated with "Corona de San Diego" vines and flowers, was a popular place during the evening, and here a bevy of beautiful young ladies served these being Misses Sara Vidauri, Berta Garza Gongora, Carolina Cavazos, Ozema Gutierrez, Eloisa Garza and Lucinda de la Garza. At midnight supper was announced and here another novel scheme was carried out, for beneath garlands of bows and flowers were two tables—one in the form of a letter "A" and the other in the form of a letter "C." Here a seven-course luncheon was served. The arrangements for the anniversary ball and supper were in charge of a committee composed of Misses Elvira and Orelia Sanchez, F. de la Garza, Angelita Orilla, Aurelia Rodriguez, Lela Guajardo, Maria Arellano, Mrs. Leopoldo Bruni and Mrs. Rafael Vidauri. The Alpha Club has a membership of about thirty young ladies and their fifth anniversary ball and supper will ever be remembered as one of the most delightful events in the history of the organization.

A Social Center.

In coming before the public in the entertainment of November 1st, the International Institute asks the attention of the community to a phase of the work of institutes throughout the country. The local nature of the work is shaped and colored, of course, by the individual community; but the general aim of it is described in the following paragraph:

An Institute is an open door. The women of America through the means of a great national organization open the door to all new comers to America, to try to tell them, even if they cannot speak their language, that all who have come here to seek a share in America's wealth, liberty and law are welcome, and if they have come to make America their home to try to help them find life here without losing months and years in strange-ness and isolation. This means that the first duty of an Institute is hospitality. An Institute is first of all a social center. Institute in the United States does not primarily mean a formal school. It means an association for cultural development. If the Institute is large, it can have a program of education, even if it is a different kind of education from that of a formal school. But it must begin by being a group of people who band together for the purpose of association and co-operation. Thus an Institute may begin by being only a simple little room with a few comfortable chairs, a piano or victrola and coffee-cups where neighbors may gather to experience the hospitality of the open door and enjoy each other's society in music and sociability—even if they can not always talk together. But if an Institute is large, it can greatly add to the simple first service of hospitality. It can be a center of culture and development. America is a brotherhood. Men of many races have chosen to become members. In the last fifty years fifty million people from many different lands have come to America or been born in America. They have made many towns and cities in this country. They do not come with empty hands. They bring arts, crafts, music, sciences, philosophy, ideals. But how can they give these gifts to the great life of the country if there is no center where they can gather for activity and where the new comers may become acquainted with those who are already here? Wherever an Institute is established in a community it seeks to provide a center where the arts, ideals, and culture of the new comers may be brought out and shaped into the life of the land.

Mr. J. A. MacDonald left yesterday morning for Mercedes, Texas.

Mr. Alfred Murphy is in Brownsville on business.

ERROR IN REPORT OF THE NATIVES KILLED

GENERAL BARRETT SAID ERROR IN ADDITION MADE IT APPEAR 1,000 TOO MANY.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Natives killed in Haiti during the five years of American occupation, number 2,250 instead of 3,250, as previously announced by the navy department, it was disclosed at the opening today of the public session of the naval court of inquiry recently appointed by Secretary Daniels to investigate the casualty record office of the corps, Brigadier Gen. Barnett, former commander of the corps, was the first witness before the court. He testified that a mistake in addition had led to the erroneous statement. Major Edmund McClellan, attached to the casualty record office of the corps, testified that only a few of the natives killed had not been in action with the Marines or the gendarmes.

LOST OPPORTUNITY.

By Associated Press.

Moscow, Oct. 27.—England by breaking off negotiations with Leo Kamenoff, the former Russian trade commissioner in London, has lost an opportunity to play the leading role in world politics, says Karl Radek, radical leader.

"The political sceptre has fallen from the hands of George, from the hands of England," he asserts in an article in the Isvestia.

"Trade negotiations with soviet Russia would have represented for England a victory over French and American imperialism; ever French imperialism because French creditors would have been obligated to allow the gold which the French capitalists consider their property to pass into English coffers; over American imperialism because the English government would receive supplies and raw materials not under the control of American monopolies.

"To realize this victory it was necessary to establish political peace with Soviet Russia.

"The breaking off of diplomatic negotiations means that the political initiative passes into the hands of France which is openly supporting Wrangel," Radek continued. "Simultaneously the republican party of the United States and its presidential candidate, Harding, have declared in favor of the recognition of Soviet Russia, demonstrating that American capital intends to put England in the second place by beginning trade relations with Russia and cutting off England's only non-American source of oil supply."

Radek concludes the article by saying that the action of the British government was induced not so much by the defeat of the red army as by the "victories of the communist idea" in London and Warsaw. "The English government has concluded that we are too strong to be further strengthened by official recognition and diplomatic pourparlers and it is too weak to tolerate in London political representatives of Soviet Russia," he added.

"The voice of Soviet Russia has been stifled in London but it will be heard not only in London but among the millions of workers in the East."

An Agreeable Surprise.

"About three years ago when I was suffering from a severe cold on my lungs and coughed most of the time night and day, I tried a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was surprised at the promptness with which it gave me relief," writes Mrs. James Brown, Clark Mills, N. Y. "Many another has been surprised and pleased with the prompt relief afforded by this remedy."

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Details of the operations of the "booze ring" here and names of public officials said to be involved are in the hands of federal officials today for presentation to the court, according to District Attorney Charles Egan, who questioned "Mikie de Pike" Heitler, the alleged leader of the whiskey dealers, for several hours last night, when Heitler was taken into custody. A warrant for the arrest of Heitler will be sought from United States Commissioner Lewis Mason, federal officials said. Heitler was detained without bail in the custody of deputy marshals all night. Heitler's name was linked with the whiskey traffic inquiry by a robbery of several thousand dollars' worth of whiskey, in which the police were said to have stolen the liquor from purchasers while it was being delivered.

WILSON ADDRESSED REPUBLICANS TODAY

SAID UNLESS LEAGUE IS MADE CERTAIN OUR SACRIFICES IN WAR WOULD BE WASTED.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Oct. 27.—President Wilson, addressing a group of pro-league Republicans today at the White House, declared that the "so-called Americanism which we hear so much prating about now is spurious and invented for party purposes only." Appealing for completion of the "great moral achievement" which he said the war represented, the president asserted that "the war will have been fought in vain and our immense sacrifices thrown away unless we complete the work we then began." He declared: "There is only one way to assure the world of peace; that is by making it so dangerous to break the peace that no other nation will have the audacity to attempt it."

COCHRAN BELIEVED HE HAD BEEN BURIED

GAVE ADDITIONAL STATEMENT TODAY IN REGARD TO HIS ABDUCTION BY MEXICANS.

By Associated Press.

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 27.—B. J. Cochran, under arrest at Asperment, Texas, in connection with an alleged life insurance fraud, added a new theory today to the reason for his "grave" being found empty, when he told a newspaper correspondent that he believed he had been drugged and then buried alive on March 10, 1919. Later he was dug up, Cochran said he believed, by Mexicans wanting to collect the $10,000 reward offered for his arrest for participation in a fight in Socorro, New Mexico, in which two prominent Mexicans were killed. Today's statement, Cochran said, was an amplification of the one made yesterday in which he said he had been abducted and taken to New Mexico, where he was held for seven months. During his absence Cochran's wife, now deceased, collected $10,000 insurance, believing her husband dead.

Under leadership of John L. Cope, the British explorer, five men will go to the Antarctic from Christchurch.

After two years Cope plans to return and carry out the full program of his expedition, including the circumnavigation of the Antarctic and aerial navigation over the ice. During his absence his ship is being specially built and fitted in England for the second expedition.

EXCITEMENT IN IRELAND.

By Associated Press.

Cork, Oct. 27.—A state of excitement, which is difficult for Americans and Englishmen to appreciate unless experienced, prevails in Cork and throughout Ireland.

The following can be given as an illustration: As the Associated Press correspondent was passing the general postoffice the other day a motor truck filled with soldiers and police, with rifles at ready, dashed in the main entrance. Several of them descended and entered the postoffice, one policeman holding a revolver pointing himself in the doorway.

This was nothing more than the posting of military mails, the elaborate precautions taken being due to a daring exploit recently when the government mail bag was snatched from a soldier as he was leaving the postoffice. The bag was not recovered.

New York, Oct. 27.—The cost of wives has increased in the far-off Chin Hills of Burma where they are obtained on the "dollar down" plan. Men matrimonially inclined are demanding lower and easier terms from their prospective fathers-in-law, who are compensated for the loss of their daughters' labor, declares a report by Reverend J. Herbert Cope, representative of the Baptist Foreign Mission Society at Haka.

"This year a lively discussion grew out of the resolution that selling of daughters cease," the report continued. "The custom has grown into an abuse. Men are demanding more and more until a young chap who marries goes frightfully into debt which he is years liquidating. And, it while paying slowly for his wife, the husband incurs the anger of her father, the daughter is promptly called home and in some cases sold to another man. We have been trying to get them to reduce the charges."

From Thursday's Daily.

THE WHISKEY RING.

Some wit has said that the first thing Noah did after he left the ark was to plant a vineyard and afterwards get drunk on the product, and that all his descendants have since been following his example.

At any rate, drunkenness is the most common offense that people have committed and written history from the very beginning tells of the misuse of alcoholic liquor. The world conqueror, Alexander, died of a fever induced by over-indulgence in wine, and many other characters in history have been noted for their self-indulgence in this line. It was a reproach used by the Pharisees that the Son of Man associated with "wine-bibbers."

So it is not surprising that the advent of prohibition has not removed from human appetites the desire for intoxicating liquors, nor that some people are willing to go to every extreme to get the liquor wherewith to satisfy their appetites.

And perhaps it should not be surprising that the worst offenders against the prohibition law are those who are willing to violate it for the sake of gain. Even in the days of open saloons there were few who conducted drinking places because they loved to see people gratify their tastes, and had it not been for the profit in the business it is doubtful if many could have been found to enter it.

The one surprising thing is that of officials—some of comparatively high rank, it is alleged—could be induced to lend their aid to the lawbreakers for the sake of the profit in the illegal transactions. At least, it would be surprising had we not read in the past of officials lending their sanction and their aid in covering up transactions which are even lower and more debasing than the mere traffic in liquor.

In all criminal cases where the police are involved, it has been the rule for years past to look for "the men higher up." The assassinations for political reasons, or for mere robbery, or in some cases to hush up a dreaded witness, were usually directly traceable to some one of high authority, and not always was it possible to trace the slimy trail to the end.

It is now alleged that the "whiskey ring" in Chicago includes some officials who were popularly supposed to be above anything that was crooked, while the officials themselves seem to have thought that they were above the law. At any rate, the names of some alleged to be implicated in the gigantic conspiracy by which fortunes were to be made out of the illicit traffic in whiskey are now in the hands of federal officers and are to be presented to the court.

As an example of shrewd plotting, one part of the system indicates that it was planned by someone above the grade of the ordinary "dip" or porch climber or "gun."

It was simplicity itself. Permits to release whiskey from bond for sale to dealers for legitimate purposes were secured by fraud. En route to the purchaser the liquor was seized (?) by policeman, and then turned over to the crooks. Could anything be smoother?

As was to have been expected, some of the men used in the coarser work of the ring were our old friends, the gunmen. And there is a familiar ring to the name of one who seems to have turned state's evidence under the influence of the sweat-box, one "Mikie de Pike." It matters not, save for insertion in the indictment, what his surname is. His nom de guerre is typical—and enlightening.

As is usually the case when criminals of more refined standards make use of the lower class tool, exposure follows arrest. For the ordinary criminal has but one instinct—to save himself if he can by divulging all he knows. He may afterwards pay for it, but he hopes for immunity by betraying his employers as cheerfully as he accepted their employment.

RECOGNIZING MEXICO.

It would seem eminently fit and proper that our government should recognize the new government of Mexico, at least as soon as General Obregon, the president-elect, has been inaugurated.

For the first time in many years—perhaps the very first time in the history of that country—the president has been elected by the people, or at least by a greater part of the people than has ever before taken part in the political activities of the country.

Due to the manner in which the Mexicans have been ruled in the past, the "common people," the bulwark of the freedom of any really free country, have been held in subjection, and only the professional politicians, the ruling class, have had anything to do with the choice of the government. And even this latter class was dominated by a small group of men.

But the agitation of the past decade has brought about a change in the political life of the nation. People who previously voted as they were told, if indeed at all, are now taking an active part in politics, not only in voting but in naming those who shall be candidates.

Mexico, strife-torn for ten years, is now emerging from the era of bloodshed and preparing to take her rightful place among the nations of the world. They are now, to paraphrase the noted Kansas orator, "raising more corn and less hell."

Without the recognition of our government the Mexican government is handicapped. It lacks the stamp of official friendship and the intercourse between the two nations is hampered.

We need, and in fact are daily importing, many articles produced only in Mexico. The Mexican people want the products of our industries, as well as a market for their raw materials. Without the official recognition of the new Mexican government by the Washington administration, commerce has its hands and feet tied, and this is another reason for recognition.

All will remember that the murder of Madero and the alleged usurpation of Victoriano Huerta took place just before Taft resigned the chair to President Wilson. The outgoing president declared that the time was too short for him to decide upon so momentous a question as the recognition or rejection of the new Mexican government, and that it was a problem for the incoming administration.

But matters are now different. Some months will elapse before the successor to President Wilson takes his place. The election even has not yet decided who that successor will be. It would not be acting hastily for President Wilson to recognize the new Mexican government, for he has known for some months just what sort of a government is being hammered into shape down there.

It may be that Mr. Wilson is waiting for the inauguration of the president-elect before extending recognition. And it may be that he will follow the example of his distinguished predecessor and let the matter go over for his successor to handle.

It would be to the best interests of the people of both countries to have our government extend formal recognition to the Mexican government. Treaties concerning extradition of criminals, imports and exports of both countries and other matters of reciprocal benefit are held in abeyance until the new Mexican government is recognized as both de jure and de facto.

Other nations are waiting our action, and when recognition eventually comes, as it must, a great impetus will be given to trade and commerce, and diplomatic relations will once more be on the friendly footing of past years.

ELKS HALL IN GALA ATTIRE FOR MEETING THIS EVENING

Everything Ready For Banquet and Annual Election of Chamber of Commerce Tonight.

The chairman of the various committees met at Elks Hall last night to compare notes and work out the details of the plans to make the gathering of business men and members of the Chamber of Commerce at Elks Hall tonight one of the most successful and grandest affairs of the season. It has been arranged that the entire Elks Hall will be occupied with the banquet tables and every effort is being made to make it possible for every member of the Chamber of Commerce to meet with every other member and learn to understand the value of a closer acquaintance with each other, even in the local every day affairs of the business life of the city.

The officers of the two Laredos representing the civil government, as well as the commanding officers and their staffs of the two Republics, will all be represented. A splendid program of music will be provided by the 17th Infantry Band and every member who enjoys good music will be afforded a treat in that respect also.

Of course the all important matter lies in the fact that every member of the board of directors for the ensuing year who will be elected tonight should have the assurance and the feeling that the largest gathering and the most representative association of citizens and business men stands behind their election. The obligation will be mutual. The board will feel that an important duty has been assigned to them by all the people. The people should feel that they had a part in selecting the board, and should take a special interest in sustaining them in their activities and co-operating with them in all plans which they may submit in the interest of developing a greater Laredo, and hence creating an expansion movement in the business life of Laredo. It is the duty of every member of the Chamber of Commerce to attend this important annual election and banquet tonight. The committee request that it be announced that the members will be seated promptly at 8 o'clock. The voting will take place during the banquet hour, which will be the first hour of the evening.

Addresses in Spanish and English will be made.

ROBERT ANDERSON HAYNES PASSED AWAY LAST EVENING

WAS NATIVE TEXAN AND SON OF WELL KNOWN ARMY OFFICER.

Former Member of Rangers, Sheriff of Zapata County, Surveyor, and in Immigration Service.

Robert Anderson Haynes, an inspector in the United States Immigration Service at Laredo for the past fifteen years and who was well known to thousands of persons outside of Laredo on account of his activities prior to coming here to make his home, died at his home in this city last night at 9:15 o'clock after a short illness, although the sudden change in his condition for the worse came unexpectedly and he passed away before a physician could reach his bedside.

Robert Anderson Haynes was a native Texan, the son of Colonel John Haynes, an officer of the federal army during the civil war. He was born in Austin, Texas, in 1860, and after attending the common schools in his native city went to Brooklyn, N. Y., where he completed his education and then returned to Texas. He secured a position with the late Jay Gould, the great railroad magnate, to survey the route of the International & Great Northern railway, which it was intended to extend from St. Louis to Mexico City. However, due to the breaking up of the agreement, the line did not extend beyond Laredo, ceasing at the boundary line here.

In later years deceased became a member of the Texas ranger force under Captain Joe Shely and participated in the fight at Round Rock during which Sam Bass was killed. Resigning from the ranger force, Mr. Haynes was elected sheriff of Zapata county and filled that office from 1892 to 1906, and it was while serving as sheriff of Zapata county in 1895 that he was married to Miss Marcella Ramirez, who died some years ago. After giving up his duties as sheriff of Zapata county deceased was superintendent of construction of the Matamoros & Monterey railway and in 1905 entered the United States Immigration Service, serving as an inspector, and this position he held up to the time of his death.

Besides two sons, John and James Haynes of this city, and one daughter, Miss Mary Haynes, who is attending school in Washington, deceased is survived by one brother, Leonard Haynes, who is in New York, and who was advised of his brother's death last night.

The body of Mr. Haynes will be held at the Jackson undertaking parlors until tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, when the funeral will take place from there to the Episcopal church and thence to the city cemetery.

THE REAL DOPE.

Laredo Post No. 59, American Legion.

(By Mack)

Celebration of Armistice Day by The American Legion on November 11th next will outshine all other undertakings of the big service men's organization, according to information received at the office of the Texas American Legion News Service in Austin.

Laredo Post No. 59 is now working on the plans of a Armistice Day Celebration which will be one of the largest and best ever held.

The manner in which some of the Posts of the American Legion are supporting the campaign for $350,000 with which to complete the construction of the Kerrville Hospital for tubercular ex-service men is shown by the action of the Kleberg Post No. 99 of Kingsville, which in one day raised its quota among 23 of its members.

Nearly all Legion Posts throughout the State now have committees appointed and working in the interest of this great humanitarian cause. It is planned to close the drive on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month and all Posts in the State will be expected to have raised the minimum contribution from the Legion Post of $200.00 by that time. In appreciation for this work of the Legionnaires the name of each Post which contributes a minimum of $200.00 will be inscribed upon the Roll of Honor, which is to be upon the administration building of the hospital at Kerrville.

Laredo Post of the American Legions has been allotted 25,000 tags to be sold on Tag Day, Nov. 6, and we feel sure that the local post will go over the top. We are only asked to raise $200; that ought to be easy. Tag Day has been set by proclamation of Governor Hoibay.

Join the American Legion now. A special rate is now in effect; here it is:

Resolution passed at the national convention at Cleveland: That the national dues of the American Legion for bona fide new members joining the Legion on or after Oct. 1, 1920, and prior to Dec. 31, 1920, shall be $1.25, which will pay the national dues of such members until Dec 31, 1921. This is a saving of 75c on the 1920 dues. The Adjutant is at the American Legion Headquarters, Soldiers Club, every day between the hours of 3 and 5. Call there and get your application blank.

State Historian I. N. Greenberg of Houston is now engaged in working on a history of the Department of Texas, American Legion. He reports that his search for material has not been up to expectations and that there is a dearth of authentic information on the beginning of the Legion in Texas and of the development and activities of the various posts throughout the state.

Historian Greenberg urged all posts to take steps immediately toward the compiling of a post history so that in the future years when the memory of many Legionnaires will be dimmed by age, they will get the straight facts on any matter which may come up by turning to either their post or State history.

Pains Were Terrific

Read how Mrs. Albert Gregory, of R. F. D. No. 1, Bluford, Ill., got rid of her ills. "During... I was awfully weak... My pains were terrific. I thought I would die. The bearing-down pains were actually so severe I could not stand the pressure of my hands on the lower part of my stomach... I simply felt as if life was for but a short time. My husband was worried... One evening, while reading the Birthday Almanac, he came across a case similar to mine, and went straight for some Cardui for me to try.

"I took it faithfully and the results were immediate," adds Mrs. Gregory. "I continued to get better, all my ills left me, and I went through... with no further trouble. My baby was fat and strong, and myself—thank God—am once more hale and hearty, can walk miles, do my work, though 44 years old, feel like a new person. All I owe to Cardui." For many years Cardui has been found helpful in building up the system when run down by disorders peculiar to women.

WINTRY WEATHER PREVAILS AND EVERYBODY FEELS GOOD

During the Past Two Days Overcoats at Times Have Been Comfortable and Winter Clothing Used.

A touch of winter has pervaded the atmosphere during the past three or four days, more so during yesterday and today, and many persons have pulled out their overcoats from where they had been relegated and found them very comfortable, especially in the early morning or evening.

This kind of weather is ideal for hunters out in quest of ducks and doves, while those who enjoy the cool of the evenings for automobile riding find the weather just crisp enough to be enjoyable.

LOVING CUP FOR BOY SCOUTS.

As an evidence of his interest in the Boy Scout Movement and to further stimulate each and every Scout to do his liveliest in the contest of next Sunday, Mr. I. Daiches, a member of the local Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of America, has presented the local council with a loving cup suitably engraved, to be awarded to the troop scoring the highest number of points in the contest.

The method of awarding the cup was left to the Scoutmasters by Mr. Daiches, and at a round table meeting it was decided that the troop scoring the highest number of points in this contest should hold the cup temporarily until the next competitive meet, when it will be contested for again, and so on, until one troop wins the cup three times, when it will be their permanent property. Each time the cup is contested for, the winning troop will have its number and the date engraved on it and hold it until the next event.

Needless to say the boys appreciate this gift and are striving with all their might and main to win the trophy. The cup is now on exhibition in Mr. Daiches' window.

Mayor Villegas has kindly consented to furnish a squad of mounted police for the big parade. The 17th Infantry Band, one of the very best in the United States Army, will also take part and seven full Troops of Scouts will be in line under their respective Scoutmasters. The line of march will be published tomorrow.

The contest will commence promptly at 4 p. m. at Caliche Park, Sunday, October 31st, and will no doubt be witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever assembled there. Admission is free to all.

IN THE DAY'S NEWS.

OCTOBER 28.

Lord Robert Cecil, who has declared in parliament that the administration in Ireland in the last 18 months has been one of the most disastrous and tactless things in Britain's history, is a lawyer and statesman of wide experience, though still comparatively young in years. Like his distinguished father, the Marquis of Salisbury, he has figured much in public affairs, and the keen eyes and studious face are well known among parliamentary figures. For some years he was undersecretary for foreign affairs and during the war he held the important post of minister of blockade. His family is one of the oldest and most distinguished in England and in generations past was intimately related to royalty.

From Saturday's Daily.

THE ELECTION.

The closing week of the presidential campaign finds the chairmen of both parties respectively claiming the victory in advance, and it seems not to have occurred to either that this is a campaign in which the old political calculations cannot be of any value, because for the first time in our country the women are to vote all over the country.

The political "survey" of the Republicans convinces Chairman Hays that Harding and Coolidge will receive "the largest popular majority ever cast," but this survey is based merely upon reports of the political leaders from state committees down to ward workers. And it is doubtful if any one of them can predict with any certainty what the women's vote will be even in any precinct of any city.

Chairman White of the Democratic committee says: "The Republicans are demoralized from the Canadian border to the Gulf and from the Atlantic to the Pacific." There is some reason for this statement, for one reads of former Republicans, many of them prominent, all over the country turning to the Democratic candidate, while the proportion of Democrats who are going to vote the other way is decidedly small.

But no Democrat should relax in the slightest degree his exertions for party victory. Every vote that can be cast for Cox and Roosevelt will add that much more to the popular majority, and rebuke the attempt to make American victory on the battlefields of France of no avail.

Every American soldier who fell in battle calls upon us to "take up the torch," and to make another such war impossible. Every mother who lost a son, every wife who lost a husband, asks for the repudiation of the theory that party victory is more important than world peace, and that humanity is to be subordinated to money-making.

The attempt to induce people to believe that the Versailles treaty and the league covenant mean a surrender of American sovereignty has their oath of office. The governor of Alabama, as of other states, takes a solemn oath upon his induction into office that he will uphold the constitution and laws of the United States and of the state of Alabama; that he will do all in his power to secure the enforcement of the law and to protect the citizens against violence and outrage; that he will use the legal means of such enforcement.

The opponents of the governor are decidedly in the wrong. The attempt to induce people to believe that the Versailles treaty and the league covenant mean a surrender of American sovereignty has their oath of office. The governor of Alabama, as of other states, takes a solemn oath upon his induction into office that he will uphold the constitution and laws of the United States and of the state of Alabama; that he will do all in his power to secure the enforcement of the law and to protect the citizens against violence and outrage; that he will use the legal means of such enforcement.

Why is the German vote so strong? Is lined up for Harding and Coolidge? Does anyone believe it is because a Republican victory would mean an insistence upon terms of peace honorable to our country and not degrading to Germany?

A vote for Cox and Roosevelt means that the voter is in favor of 100 per cent Americanism—not the diluted Americanism that takes its cue from the men who did their best to make the allied victory of no value and who are still insisting that we should have kept out of the war, or that having gone in, we should should turn traitor to our allies.

We owe a duty to the people of America far greater than any we owe to the people of foreign sentiments and commercial instincts; the men who want to resume trade with a foe that is not yet repentant and who would stamp every international agreement with the dollar mark and the sign of the double cross.

The people of America have been for many years under the domination of the same group of politicians who have presumed to do the people's thinking for them. The bosses resent any attempt at freedom from this domination, and they are doing their best to remain in power.

Every vote for Cox and Roosevelt is a blow at the shackles that have been placed on American liberty by the senatorial oligarchy which is now trying to put one of its number into the chair of the presidency and make him the mouthpiece and the puppet of those who would really be the rulers were he elected.

The time is short, and much misrepresentation has been used as a weapon by the Republican leaders and their powerful newspapers and magazines. Let each Democrat say: "They shall not pass."

A RADICAL MOVE.

It is evident that all the radicals are not in the big industrial centers of the East and North. One Southern state, which also has a great industrial center—Birmingham now has a labor convention in session which aims at a step further along the path to anarchy than some of the other states have taken.

There is a strike of coal miners in Alabama, and much resultant disorder. The state federation of labor—which, by the way, includes few workers besides the miners and the steel workers—suggests a general strike throughout the state as a means of gaining the miners' strike, since its last visit to Laredo and those who go to witness the performance are promised clean, wholesome entertainment. The tents will be erected on the Texas-Mexican block.

The show carries an aggregation of troops to quell disturbances in the mining field! The resolution was do some great acting, and one of the referred to a committee, and if the federation heads are wise they will let it die there.

The governor of a state is elected first of all for the maintenance of law and order. He is required by law to take such steps as may be necessary for the protection of the people in their life and property, with many novelties by America's and not to act at the behest of a labor organization.

Had the governor of Alabama failed to send troops to the scenes of rioting and bloodshed, he would have deserved impeachment. He would have been guilty of neglect of duty, and the people would have had a perfect right to demand his impeachment.

Mobile has an important port, and for a time law and order there were menaced by the longshoremen's strike, which caused such trouble at Galveston recently. But trouble was averted and it was not until the miners' strike began that violence was rampant.

Besides the coal mines, there are mines where iron ore is taken out, and the miners of Alabama form an appreciable part of organized labor in that state. But nothing has been said about the iron miners going out in sympathy with the coal miners, although they belong to the same organization, and it would seem proper to await the action of the miners' executives before calling a general strike in that state.

But if the labor unions of Alabama want to arouse the people of their state to action, they will continue in their attempt to impeach the governor, nor for his wise action in calling out state troops to quell disturbances. Alabama is primarily an agricultural state, and as such is not disposed to permit open violence on the part of any organization.

Above all, it is not for a body of men, most of whom are from other sections and whose leaders reside in distant states, to threaten the sovereign state of Alabama with their displeasure because law and order have been upheld.

The headquarters in Indianapolis of the coal miners' organization would do well to instruct its subordinates in Alabama to study the situation a little more before precipitating such action as may lead to trouble for all concerned.

Governors have been impeached, but not for such acts as are charged against the Alabama governor. Their which he apparently has in reserve. Impeachment has followed a formal trial in which it was proven that they had committed offenses against the laws of the state and had violated their oath of office.

The governor of Alabama, as of other states, takes a solemn oath upon his induction into office that he will uphold the constitution and laws of the United States and of the state of Alabama; that he will do all in his power to secure the enforcement of the law and to protect the citizens against violence and outrage; that he will use the legal means of such enforcement.

The opponents of the governor are decidedly in the wrong.

GATE CITY QUARTETTE PLEASED LARGE AUDIENCE

NEW MUSICAL ORGANIZATION MADE ITS INITIAL BOW.

Under Able Direction of Mrs. Flora Dilgarde Anderson, Concert Last Night Was Artistic Success.

The Gate City Quartette made its initial bow to a Laredo audience last night and showed that a new group of entertainers will hereafter have to be reckoned with. In fact, judging from the delighted applause of the large audience at Market Hall, no concert program in the future will be considered complete without the name of the quartette, and Messrs. Adams, Hiatt, Cook and Bueuz are to be complimented on the artistic success of their first concert.

Their selections ranged from the more pretentious male quartette compositions to the light and "popular" sort, and perhaps the biggest hit of their repertoire was "Swing Along." The blending of their voices was perfect, their harmony was good and there was an absence of the individual predominance which frequently makes a male quartette uncertain and unpleasant.

There is little need of comment when one speaks of Courtney Slaughter. Tone, feeling and accurate notation always characterize the splendid work of this youthful artist, and she was never in better form than last evening. There is a quality of freshness about her voice that would be envied by many older singers, and it is sympathetic in the extreme. She was greeted with applause at each appearance, and reluctantly permitted to leave.

Ernest Bueuz has a pleasing bass voice of considerable range. If there is a single fault to be found in so good a young singer, it is that he seems at all times to be restraining the power which he apparently has in reserve. More force would make his work more effective.

Edwin B. Adams was in good voice and gave a pleasing rendition of "The Garden of Your Heart" and "Mother of Machee." Mr. Adams is too well known to Laredo music lovers to need any comment, save that he is one of the few tenors that are always dependable and efficient.

Mrs. A. C. Hamilton explained to the audience that her choice of "The Lie" was "by request," but she need not have said anything about it, as it is doubtful if anything else could have pleased her audience half so well. She was given that greatest of all tributes to the accomplished reader—utter silence—during her charming rendition of the story of the little lad who had told his first lie, and smiles chased the tears up to the triumphant climax, when she received a storm of applause.

Mr. Blanchard's rendition of the prologue from "I Pagliacci" was a revelation to the audience. It has seldom been given in Laredo and then only by professional singers, as it is beyond the average amateur's capacity. Mr. Blanchard has a remarkably sympathetic voice of wide range, and the selection was one which showed his voice to the best advantage. He was obliged to respond twice, his second response being sung to his own accompaniment on the piano.

Mr. Blanchard's singing of the prologue was made the more effective by the splendid piano accompaniment by Mrs. Flora Dilgarde Anderson. Mrs. Anderson's work, especially as accompanist, is too well known to require praise. "Good wine needs no bush," said Shakespeare, and good musical work needs no fanfare of trumpets to call attention to it. Mrs. Anderson, while accompanist of the Music League in the Soldier Welfare work in New York, played the same accompaniment for Señor Ordoñez, the famous Spanish tenor who was acclaimed by Leoncavallo as the premier baritone of the world in the noted role of the clown.

Ernest and Fred Bueuz delighted the audience with their marimba duo, and their range of selections was wide, from Nevin's "Rosary" to the most absurd, jiggy ragtime. They were repeatedly called back and were only reluctantly released after playing several numbers.

Courtney Slaughter again sang, the "Fairy Tales" from "Buddies" apparently pleasing the audience more than others of her selections, and she was obliged to respond to a second encore.

The quartette closed the program, Mr. Chas. W. Cook making a decided hit in "McSorley's Twins," and the concert came to an end, many of the audience remaining to dance. The dance music was furnished by the Royal orchestra and was pleasing beyond description.

Each and every performer in the concert last night deserves the highest praise, both for effort and accomplishment. The quartette is to be congratulated on its efficient director-accompanist, and Laredo is to be congratulated upon the possession of musicians of such sterling quality.

THE SOUL OF YOUTH AT ROYAL ON SUNDAY-MONDAY

Human Interest Drama, Starring Lewis Sargent, Carries a Story That Digs Deep Into the Heart.

"Love me, love my dog" is one of the first articles of faith in the average boy's credo. For the juvenile loyalty to his dogship is a characteristic of boyhood. Perhaps the boy loves the dog for the same good and sufficient reason that the lamb loved Mary. Be that as it may, trying to separate a dog and a boy who love each other is harder and more cruel than bisecting a pair of Siamese twins. It's worse than a major operation and the wounds never heal, even if the sufferers survive the ordeal.

How one orphan dealt with the dog problem is amusingly shown in Wil-liam D. Taylor's great boy film, "The Soul of Youth," which comes to the Royal Theatre on Sunday for a two days run. The youthful hero of the piece is an orphanage lad, and his escapades both at the home and after he runs away from it to live the un-certain life of the street urchin form an engrossing story. The chief role is carried by Lewis Sargent, the boy who made "Huck Finn" live on the screen. His impudent, mirth-loving face is familiar to picture fans the world over.

WASTE IN STOVES.

By Associated Press. Austin, Texas, Oct. 30.—Faulty appliances and ranges and stoves not properly designed to burn gas cause a large waste, according to a statement from the oil and gas division of the Texas Railroad Commission, which endorsed the following suggestions for saving gas which recently were published by the Kansas Natural Gas Conservation Committee:

Do you have trouble with fumes? If you have, it is due to a closed top stove. All properly designed ranges have open tops.

Do you clean your burners regularly? If you will boil your burners in lye it will make them more efficient.

Do you have trouble when gas is low? Raising the burners to within 1/4 inches of cooking vessel will materially remedy this.

Does your gas burn a yellow flame? If so, your burners are too low and are inefficient and wasteful. Raise them and adjust the air mixture and you will have a short blue flame. It will cook more quickly and use less gas.

Are you burning gas in a stove designed to burn coal? Most converted coal stoves waste 50 percent, or more, of the gas consumed.

ALLIANCE WITH ENGLAND.

By Associated Press. Berlin, Oct. 30.—Pan-American elements are agitating for an economic alliance with England as the only way in which Germany can regain her pre-war commercial prestige. The radical wing of the conservatives believe the European situation has made such a union not only practicable but probable, and are urging that ancient hates be forgotten and an understanding reached between the two nations.

England, and not America, is considered the chief factor with which Germany must reckon in international and European commerce. Writers in the newspapers discuss at length the problem of allying what they say is an unabating anti-German feeling among the English.

The Kreuz Zeitung, the old organ of the monarchists, says in an editorial:

"If we have in mind any foreign alliance, only England can be considered." I am fully aware that I will meet with the earnest opposition of many of my comrades when I suggest an alliance with England, by which has done everything to destroy us. In spite of it I hazard to recommend an alliance with England on the following grounds: Politics are not founded on sympathies. That the guests, who consisted of the girl is the first lesson that the honest friends of the honoree, went into the German should learn from his English where the "Bride's Cook-book" was placed and each one inscribed a favorite recipe. The shower followed out of our politics and as a wise business the supper and the bride received a new people travel with the partner number of attractive and useful gifts, who can make the going profitable. 10-15-15t. Music and games were then enjoyed and that England certainly can do."
